R.F.C. REPORT REVEALS LOANS TO HELP BANKS

$47,057,556 Disbursed to 437 Institutions in Ten Days in July.

ADEQUATE SECURITY GIVEN BY BORROWERS

Railroads and Other Groups Also on List Made Public by Clerk of House.

(Associated Press.)

The extensive support the Reconstruction Corporation is rendering banks, other financial institutions and railroads—all of which must give security for any loan—was illustrated yesterday when the first monthly report to be made public showed $45,057,556 was disbursed in the last ten days of July.

In the 437 advances covered, $32,990,180 went to banks and trust companies, including receivers.

The report was laid open by South Trimble, clerk of the Democratic House of Representatives, who said "the law gives me no discretion in the matter." The administration contested the publicity provision when the bill was before Congress.

Pomerene Against Publicity.

Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, told newspapermen he was opposed to publication of the report.

In governmental and banking quarters here, it was pointed out that the reconstruction directors require security considered adequate before authorizing any loan.

One aim has been to help the banks and business situation by the thawing of "frozen assets." In making loans to banks in fundamentally good financial condition, the corporation has operated to enable banks to meet demands made on them and at the same time to facilitate spread of credit.

Subsequent to publication of the report Mr. Fomerene conferred with President Hoover at the White House. While saying affairs of the corporation were discussed, the chairman did not elaborate.

$866,047,522 in Loans.

In the document submitted to the House clerk, Mr. Pomerene outlined the condition of the corporation, showing that, exclusive of repayments, a total of $866,047,522 had been loaned up to August 1. Loans totaling $223,822,599 have been authorized, but not yet disbursed.

President Hoover opposed the publicity provision in the relief bill on the ground that it might cause harm to borrowing institutions. It was insisted upon by Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic vice presidential candidate, and the Democratic House. The Democrats contended the public should know how Federal money was being used by the corporation.

Recently some Democrats pointed out that some banks had advertised they were eligible for loans from the corporation when heavy withdrawals by depositors were threatened. President Hoover was represented in informed quarters as ready to hold the Democrats responsible for any bad consequences that might result.

Trimble Denies Influence.

In releasing the figures Mr. Trimble denied in a formal statement the charge of Representative Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, a conferee on the relief bill, that Speaker

Third Professor In Senatorial Race

Ayres, of Columbia U., Is Seeking Connecticut Nomination.

Westport, Conn., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A third professor, Harry Morgan Ayres, of Columbia University's English department, entered the race today for United States senator from Connecticut. If he wins the Democratic nomination, Ayres will oppose Senator Hiram Bingham, a former Yale professor, without apparent opposition on the Republican ticket, and Prof. Albert Levitt, once a Brooklyn law school instructor, who is seeking a place on the ballot as an independent Republican.

Ayres, who commutes from his home here to his classroom in New York, urged in a statement the renomination of Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, retired Yale dean, and praised Franklin D. Roosevelt, his party's presidential candidate.

Ayres will go into the Democratic State convention September 8 with the support of Bridgeport's 49 delegates, pledged to him at a town caucus. His principal opposition is regarded by observers as coming from Representative Augustine Lonergan of Hartford, who has not yet formally announced his candidacy.

British Apple Tax Hard Rap To Virginians

Ottawa, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Prospects of an advantage over Virginia apple growers in the British market for the first time in the history of their industry had orchardists from Canada's maritime provinces in jubilant mood today as they contemplated trade pacts signed at the imperial economic conference.

If the British Parliament ratifies the 4 shilling 6 pence per hundredweight tariff agreed on by the United Kingdom, Canadian and South African delegations, all foreign apples entering Great Britain will have to pay a duty of approximately 85 cents a barrel whereas they now are on the free list.

American apples, particularly from the Shenandoah Valley's vast fruit belt, are the greatest competitors of empire apples and therefore would be hardest hit by the proposed tariff. Almost 1,000,000 barrels annually clear from the port of Baltimore alone, most of them on consignment to the British Isles.

As a result of American competition, the Canadian orchardists said, they have had bushel upon bushel of apples rot on the ground. Since the ocean freight rate is about the same to one shipper as the other from the North American continent, the Canadians believed the addition of 85 cents a barrel to the ultimate cost of United States apples would give them the desired advantage.

In the light of statistics the picture of Virginia and New England orchardists sitting back while Canada

BANKERS TO TESTIFY IN TRIAL OF DUNCAN

Court Hears Prosecution's Charges Against Former Arlington Clerk.

The prosecution today will present witnesses to substantiate its claim that William H. Duncan, former Arlington County clerk, on trial in Arlington County, misused $7,815 of public funds.

In his opening address to the jury, Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas, charged Duncan drew funds for his personal use from his official funds. He also said the jury would be shown the State Highway Commission deposited money in the form of a check with Duncan during a condemnation proceeding in connection with the Lee boulevard right of way. Duncan, he charged, failed to deposit this money in a special account in the First National Bank of Alexandria, as he had been directed.

Duncan, county clerk and clerk of the court for twelve years until his resignation in April, sat by as the jury was selected after four hours' examination of 50 prospective veniremen. Those who will hear the charges against him are W. T. Fling, Henry P. Batch, F. S. Biggs, Owen E. Williams, H. C. Febrey, Walter A. Marcey, Samuel B. Carl, John R. Crissman, Henry Rinke, F. R. Peer, Ernest Finescey and James A. Dugan.

Chief Defense Counsel Leo. P. Harlow obtained permission from Judge Walter T. McCarthy to present the

Cloudburst in Montana Isolates Three Towns

Great Falls, Mont., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A terrific rain and hail storm, second of cloudburst proportions within two days, struck the Great Falls area today and virtually isolated several towns.

The town of Power was reported under water, with bridges washed out or unsafe at Vaughn and Lange's Corner.

WALKER HINTS HE WILL DEFY OUSTER ORDER

Mayor May Keep Office, if Removed, Until Courts Decide.

COUNSEL QUESTIONS GOVERNOR'S POWER

10 of 15 Charges Said to Be Outlawed as Antedating Roosevelt's Term.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—John J. Curtin, chief of counsel for Mayor James J. Walker, recording with the State supreme court today the mayor's objection to Gov. Roosevelt removing him from office, hinted indirectly that Mayor Walker might attempt to retain his office in any event, until the courts have passed upon the governor's powers.

"Since he (the governor) feels that he is above the law, and that there is no appeal," said Curtin, "you will see that we can only go to the courts for an order to avoid physical conflict that might well ensue if an order were made by the governor without jurisdiction."

Asked afterward for an explanation of his reference to "physical conflict," Mr. Curtin remarked:

"An illegal act, without jurisdiction, is a nullity, and consequently there might be some dispute about its enforcement. In other words, if I told you to get out of your house, and you said, 'You have no power to put me out,'—what would happen? That's as far as I'll go."

Roosevelt's Power Questioned.

After arguing before Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley that the governor was without power to pass upon the mayor's fitness to retain his position, Curtin hurried from the courthouse, across the capitol park to the "hall of governors" to interrogate the first three of the mayor's witnesses.

Curtin's contentions were three:

First—That under the State constitution, the mayor is excluded from the list of officers removable by the governor.

Second—That the governor has denied the mayor his full rights by accepting the Hofstadter legislative committee testimony as evidence and not permitting Walker to face his accusers.

Third—That 10 of the 15 charges against Mr. Walker are outlawed because they antedate his present term. He quoted authorities to the effect that officials can not be removed for acts alleged to have been committed during a previous term.

Police Official Testifies.

The witnesses for the mayor were Felix A. Muldoon, second deputy police commissioner of New York City; Maurice Hotchner, chairman, and Daniel L. Reardon, member of the board of taxicab control. They testified that neither the mayor nor his friends had sought rulings to take

Armed Citizens to Resist March of 25,000 Miners

Southern Illinois Aroused on Announced Invasion After One Is Slain and Seven Wounded, including a Boy, in Two Strike Picket Clashes.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Citizens and peace officers of the southern Illinois coal fields prepared tonight to repel a threatened invasion of striking miners from central Illinois counties whose leaders decided upon a march into the State's chief mining area after two clashes today in which one miner was killed and six others slightly wounded.

Word from Gillespie that the strikers' policy committee had decided to send about 25,000 miners to Franklin County Wednesday morning to picket the mines was met with a joint statement by State's Attorney Marion M. Hart and Sheriff Browning Robinson, of Franklin County, that the invading miners would be met with a force fully as large, to prevent entering the county.

Scores of armed citizens had been deputized to repel the threatened invasion and to keep open mines where the men are willing to work under the $5 daily wage scale, to which the striking miners object. Other nearby counties also had made similar preparations.

Both of today's clashes occurred at Zeigler, near here, where miners were fired upon. One man was killed and two others wounded when deputy sheriffs dispersed pickets, and four men and a boy were wounded when a group was fired upon in Zeigler.

Shifting of the mine trouble to southern Illinois followed the inva-

VIOLENT MOBS AIM TO SAVE 5 DOOMED NAZIS

Jewish Stores Smashed as Fascists Protest Death Sentences.

FIRST ANTITERRORIST PENALTIES ORDERED

Helmeted Police Patrol City in Silesia With Rifles; Socialists Attacked.

Beuthen, Silesia, Germany, Aug. 22 (U.P.).—Steel-helmeted police carrying rifles ruled the streets of Beuthen tonight after a prolonged riot in which thousands of Fascists vainly demanded liberation of five comrades condemned to death for political terrorism and murder.

In a violent outburst against the first death sentences passed by the special antiterrorist courts, the mob thundered protests, threatened to attack the courthouse, clashed with police in the streets where shots were fired and, finally, launched a bitter attack on Jews and Socialists in parts of the city.

The mob, shouting "Hail Hitler!" ran wildly through the streets, smashing windows of Jewish stores and attacking Socialist property. Thousands surrounded the courthouse demanding liberation of the condemned men.

Shooting Begins.

Police clashed repeatedly with the rioters and finally began shooting, forming a cordon around Kaiser Franz Josef Square in front of the courthouse and forcing the mob to disperse.

Edmund Heines, chief of Hitler's storm troops in Silesia, set off the rioting when he denounced the verdict and declared that it would never be carried out. There is no appeal from the court's decision, but the government may commute the sentences.

The scene in the courtroom was dramatic when the special court set up by presidential decree to halt terrorism sentenced the five Fascists for the murder of a Communist, Peitzruch, at the village of Potampa, in Silesia, on August 10, shortly after the decree went into effect.

"Sentences Unfair."

The condemned men are Paul Lachmann, charged with leadership; Reinhold Kottisch, August Graeupner, Hans Muller and Rufin Wolnitzer. Georg Hoppe was sentenced to two years and three others were acquitted.

Munich, Germany, Aug. 22 (U.P.). The death sentences imposed on five Fascists at Beuthen were denounced today in a statement by a spokesman for Adolph Hitler, German Fascist leader.

"The sentences were entirely unfair, in view of the fact that no Communists or reichsbanner aggressor has yet been sentenced to death," he said.

Berlin, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The National Socialist party attorney, Hans Frank, telegraphed President von Hin-

Marine Fliers Believed Safe After Crash in Nicaragua; Food Dropped Them.

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 22 (A.P.). Three American marines are down in the dense jungles of eastern Nicaragua after an airplane crash, but they are believed to be safe.

Second Lieut. Clovis C. Coffman, Sergt. W. E. Scofield and Corpl. R. R. Townsend crashed in a tropical storm about 60 miles from Bluefields yesterday while flying a Loening amphibian. Second Lieut. Arthur F. Binney, who was accompanying them in another amphibian, reported their plight when he reached Bluefields.

Early today an air patrol led by Capt. Francis P. Mulcany, marine aviation commander in Nicaragua, flew out to search for them and reported he had located them from parachutes covering the trees, but could not see the plane on account of the heavy foliage.

The fliers had apparently left the plane before hitting the ground and were nesting in the branches. Food and messages were dropped to them and they were instructed to await the coming of a ground patrol from Bluefields.

TWO CAPITAL MEN AND NURSE PERISH IN BLAZING AIRPLANE AFTER HYBLA VALLEY CRASH

All that was left of the privately owned plane which crashed yesterday at Hybla Valley Airport, killing three. Flames ravaged the wreckage for 40 minutes after the crash, balking efforts to recover the bodies of James Howell, the pilot, or his passengers, Miss Ann White and Frederick Ehrenfeld. Left inset, Howell, and right inset, Miss White.

Flames Balk Attempt to Save Trio.

MANY FRIENDS SEE DISASTER

Infant Indirectly Saves Life of Mother.

A privately owned plane, piloted by James Howell, 28 years old, court clerk under Justice Oscar B. Luhring, pancaked from a height of 50 feet late yesterday afternoon at Hybla Valley Airport, killing Howell and his two passengers.

The other dead are Miss Ann White, 32, registered nurse, 1841 Columbia road northwest, and Frederick Ehrenfeld, 21, librarian of the U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals. Ehrenfeld, who is living with Dr. Howard H. Strine, 3005 Thirty-fourth street northwest, formerly lived in Greensburg, Pa., but came here three years ago.

The trio met death in the flaming wreck of the plane in sight of a group of friends who were awaiting their turn in the air. Several of the men in the party and officials of the Mount Vernon Airways, operators of the field, rushed forward when the ship crashed, but the flames, welling up 40 feet in the air an instant later, drove them back.

Controls Had Jammed.

They could only stand helplessly by and watch their three friends perish.

Elvin Robinson, president of Mount Vernon Airways, and his brother, H. L. Robinson, who was instructing student pilots at the time of the tragic accident, blamed the crash on failure to disconnect the dual controls with which the plane was equipped. After a hasty examination of the wreckage they said the controls had jammed.

Either one of the passengers in the front seat became panicky when the plane made a sharp bank to head for Washington and grabbed the controls in the front seat, or else Miss White's dress became caught in them, officials said.

Howell, who lived at 320 Eleventh street southwest, obtained his pilot's license about three weeks ago. He owned the plane, an old model Eagle Rock, jointly with Reginald Shrader, 720 F street southwest. They purchased it about six months ago.

The young pilot, planning to apply for a limited commercial license and to gain more hours in the air, had made it a practice to invite groups of friends down to Hybla Valley to fly with him.

Infant Saved Mother.

Late yesterday friends of his at the courthouse were gathered into a party and after work left in an automobile for the field. In addition to the victims of the crash, the party included Fred Strine, son of Dr. Strine, and cousin of Ehrenfeld; M. Lee Ashford, clerk of the criminal division of District Supreme Court, Cathedral Mansions; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hamilton, of North Woodside, Va., and Roscoe Conklin, court reporter for The Washington Post. Mr. Hamilton is bailiff in Justice Luhring's court.

Members of the party said Miss White and Ehrenfeld went on the

WOMEN FLIERS END GRIND AT 196 HOURS

Mrs. Thaden Collapses as Mrs. Marsalis Jokes on Setting New Record.

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 22 (A.P.). Appearing trim and fresh as when they took the air, even to manicured finger-nails, two 24-year-old housewives brought down their "flying boudoir" late today with a new women's refueling flight endurance record of 196 hours 5 minutes and 4-5 second.

Appearances were deceiving, however, for Mrs. Louise Thaden, ominously silent while her companion, Mrs. France Marsalis, laughed and joked with the crowd, suddenly collapsed. She was removed to a nearby home, and her condition later was reported as not serious.

After more than eight days of monotonous wheeling over the Curtiss Airport, they made a perfect landing a few minutes after 5 p. m. (Eastern standard time). Their flying time was checked by four watches and was expected to be accepted as an official record in about one week.

"We enjoyed every minute of it, but we got too much oatmeal. Believe me, Stewart and Johnnie were sure a big help," said Mrs. Marsalis.

Stewart Reese and John Runger were the crew of their refueling plane.

Brazil Governed By Martial Law

Report Says All of Nation Is Under Armed Rule; New Revolt Denied.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 22 (U.P.).—Confirmation was obtained from reliable sources tonight that the federal government in Brazil has declared martial law throughout the entire republic.

The Brazilian government has been combatting a revolt of Sao Paulo State for a month and a half.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Published reports of a local uprising aimed at the provisional administration of Dr. Getulio Vargas were found tonight to be untrue and Rio de Janeiro was normal except for a minor disturbance earlier in the day.

Two bombs exploded in the center of the city this afternoon, but apart from this there was nothing to indicate that trouble was brewing.

Restlessness has existed in some quarters since the outbreak of the Paulist rebellion, but it has not taken a serious form thus far, although such is frequently predicted in antigovernment quarters.

Mrs. McCormick Rallies But Recovery Is Unlikely

Chicago, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, on the verge of death several times last week, today was reported "bright and cheerful, and stronger than at any time in three weeks."

Physicians said they were amazed at her vitality in resisting an incurable malady. They said she might live for days, but that she could not recover.

Parachutes Save Two Fliers in Odd Crashes

San Antonio, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Lieut. J. G. Fowler and Cadet Joseph J. Kelly, Philadelphia, Army fliers, owe their lives to parachutes, which floated them safely to earth today after freak accidents in the air.

Lieut. Fowler was doing acrobatics above Davenport Field when his safety belt snapped and he was thrown into the air. The plane crashed and burned as he floated to earth.

Cadet Kelly also was doing acrobatics when his motor cut out. The ship slipped into an outside spin. At 1,000 feet he slipped his safety belt and the centrifugal force threw him clear of his plane.

Maryland Banker and State Senator Files Appeal in Deposit Case.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 22.—State Senator Emory L. Coblentz, president of the Central Trust Co., Frederick, which closed September 2 last, convicted of having received a deposit at the Washington Trust Co., branch of the bank at Ellicott City, when he knew the institution was insolvent, was sentenced to eighteen months in the House of Correction this afternoon.

His counsel noted an appeal to the Court of Appeals, and Coblentz' bond of $2,500 was continued. He received the sentence unmoved. The court overruled a motion for arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The case was removed here from Howard County.

There is an indictment against Charles McC. Mathias, Grover L. Michael, and C. Thomas Summers,

TOUHY WINS SECOND LEG IN FLIGHT DERBY

Pittsburgh Aviatrix Third In at Atlanta; Dorset Leads in Points.

Atlanta, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—J. H. Touhy, Glean, N. Y., aviator, today won the second leg of the flight from more than a score of contestants in the 2,369-mile handicap derby from Washington to the national air races in Cleveland.

Only 30 seconds behind Touhy came Fred Dorset, of Augusta, Ga. Dorset yesterday won the first leg of the flight from Washington to Winston-Salem, N. C.

Third to roar over the line was Helen McClosky, Pittsburgh aviatrix, who landed less than two minutes behind the two leaders.

The fliers came here from Spartanburg, S. C., where they stopped to lunch. They will spend the night here.

Of the 28 planes which started in the race 2 had failed to check in more than two hours after the rest of the contestants landed. Arthur J. Davis, of Lansing, Mich., was reported forced down about 14 miles from Greenville, S. C. E. W. Stitt, of Washington, failed to put in his appearance when the fliers checked in at Spartanburg.

C. J. Fenton, of Toledo, Ohio, arrived at Candler Field tonight after being forced down about 60 miles from here because of a clogged gasoline pipe. He said he did not remember the name of the town, but that he

Martial Law Threatened While Farm Strike Grows

Iowa Food Blockade Movement Gains Momentum Westward; Federal Action Foreseen as Mail and Freight Trains Are Stopped Near Sioux City.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 22 (A.P.). The farmers holiday movement picked up today a cyclone-like momentum, which carried it into many parts of the Middle West.

In Iowa, where the strike for higher produce prices originated, a host of mass meetings, parades, attacks on trucks and blockades was stirred up in scattered communities. Officials of the National Holiday Association reported growing strength in other Central and Western States.

In Minnesota, Gov. Olson declared his willingness to join governors of other States in a plan, "even martial law," to stop farm marketing until prices rise.

Successful in curbing all truck shipments in Sioux City, leaders of the strike turned their attention to the Nation's second largest live stock market, and set up a barricade across the two main highways from Iowa into Omaha.

More than 400 farmers near Lewiston, Idaho, agreed not to sell any of their 5,000,000 bushels of wheat for 60 days except at a profit.

In South Dakota, a State-wide meeting was called of State officials to determine their sentiment regarding inaugurating a strike in that State.

Farmers gathered in Le Mars, Cherokee, Boone and other Iowa cities to plan further extensions of their campaign and to demand that creameries, produce houses and other markets be

HOME LOAN STOCK PLAN HANDICAPPED

Board Finds Some States Forbid Banks to Buy Such Securities.

(Associated Press.)

Blocked by some State laws which forbid building and loan associations, insurance companies and savings banks from subscribing to stock of the new Federal Home Loan Banks, the system's board of directors yesterday awaited completion of a list of such States before mapping action to secure legislative amendments.

Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the board, returning from a tour of the New England States and New York, said he found enthusiastic cooperation everywhere he went, but that some State laws prevented local institutions from investing in stock of the home loan banks.

He said New York and Massachusetts prohibited such investments by the there kinds of institutions, while New Jersey statutes prevented insurance companies making them.

Fort said the Massachusetts Legislature was expected to amend its law during a special session, and this might be done in a few other States, but that in others it was expected no action would be taken until the regular sessions next winter.

Fort, William E. Best and H. Morton Bodfish, members of the board, reported they found institutions handling home mortgages favorably inclined toward the home loan banking system and anxious to cooperate to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Gann to Deliver Two Speeches in Maine

(Associated Press.)

After a conference with White House officials yesterday, Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, announced she would speak Saturday at Oakland, Me., and again September 9, at Bangor, Me.

Mrs. Gann conferred with Walter P. Newton, political secretary to President Hoover, saying she had discussed these addresses and conditions as she found them while attending her brother's notification ceremonies in Kansas. She said she had had enthusiastic gatherings with women in Kansas and elsewhere on her recent trip.

U. S. Trade Parley Opened in Paris

Formal Stage Reached in Commercial Treaty Endeavors.

Paris, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Negotiations for a Franco-American commercial treaty entered the formal stage today when French and American experts in economics held their first meeting at a luncheon given at the American Embassy by the United States Ambassador, Walter E. Edge.

Plans were outlined for future meetings, at which the whole field of commercial relations between France and the United States will be explored. It was decided that the experts would meet again shortly at the French ministry of commerce offices.

There has been considerable discussion here of the possibility that an Anglo-French trade treaty would be negotiated, one published report going so far as to say that negotiations would be opened this week. At the British embassy it was stated no steps had been taken here thus far.

Parley Is Opened By Colored Elks

Mayor of Atlantic City and Senator Barbour Heard at Session.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22.—The Grand Lodge of Colored Elks, here, in the words of Grand Exalted Ruler J. Finley Wilson, to "celebrate depression's approaching end," were given the key to the city today by Mayor Bacharach and extended a similar welcome to the State by Senator R. . Barbour, who was himself given a vociferous greeting.

"It is natural," Senator Barbour said, "that the Democratic party will do all it can to wean the Negro from the Republican party by laying the depression on the doorstep of Herbert Hoover. But the distinct change for the better in business will appeal to the sensible Negro everywhere, relieving whatever feeling of mental discouragement he may have had."

Perry Howard, in responding, commended Senator Barbour's record in Washington on all question related to Negro welfare, especially his action against the Montgomery confirmation in Mississippi. He predicted reelection of President Hoover and election of Senator Barbour to a full term in the Senate. Roscoe Conkling Simmons, who spoke in interest of Negro Republicanism, along with Judge W. C. Hueston and Howard, succeeded in their effort to prevent extension of an invitation to the Democratic vice presidential candidate to address the convention at today's session.

INVASION OF 25,000 TO MEET RESISTANCE

sion last week of Christian County to the north by 10,000 miners opposed to the $5 wage scale. Four mines there were closed by the invading miners, who marched out of the county Friday night, but today operations were resumed in one of the mines, at Langley, under guard of deputy sheriffs.

The largest coal mine in the world, Orient, No. 2, is near West Frankfort, in Franklin County, which, together with Williamson and Saline Counties, comprise the chief mining area in the State.

Dominic Lauranti, 32, who had dug coal in this district for eleven years and who opposed the new wage scale, was slain in the first clash which occurred at the Bell and Zoller No. 1 mine at Zeigler at 1 a. m. when sheriff's deputies dispersed picketers.

Luranti's back was filled with shotgun pellets and his neck was broken in some undetermined manner. Two other miners were shot in the back as they ran.

In the second clash, which occurred on the streets of Zeigler about 5 a. m., three men and a 10-year-old boy were shot and another man slugged with a rifle. In this attack a machine gun was fired, presumably over heads of the miners.

R. F. C. BARES AID TO BANKS

Garner had influenced his decision last Thursday to grant publicity to the report.

"Such a charge is ridiculous," Mr. Timble said. "The law gives me no discretion in the matter. Speaker Garner has never attempted to influence me in the discharge of my duty."

During the ten-day period following the signing of the bill July 21 by President Hoover, to August 1, only thirteen loans in excess of $500,000 were made. Most of the bank loans were less than $50,000. Three railroads, seven banks, two insurance companies and one mortgage loan company received more than $500,000 each.

The largest bank loan, $3,800,000, went to the Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association at San Francisco.

Other Big Loans.

Other big loans were to the Union Trust Co., Cleveland, $1,500,000; Winters National Bank & Trust Co., Dayton, $1,700,000; Commercial National Bank, Washington, D. C., $600,000; Erie (Pa.) Trust Co., $500,000; Farmers Trust Co., Lancaster, Pa., $753,810; East Tennessee National Bank, Knoxville, $500,000; Union Idemnity Co., of New Orleans, $850,000; Missouri State Life Insurance Co., of St. Louis, $850,000; Hibernia Mortgage Co., Inc., New Orleans, $500,000; Minneapolis, St. Paul & Ste. Marie Railway, $5,000,000; Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, $1,000,000, and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, $700,000. The State of Illinois was advanced $3,000,000 for relief purposes.

The general rate of interest on bank loans was 5½ per cent, with 5 per cent being charged to a few banks in the hands of receivers. The railroad interest rate was 6 per cent.

In his letter accompanying the report, Pomerene said in addition to the loans of $45,057,556.10, increases totaling $1,653,500 were allowed in loans authorized prior to July 21, bringing the total to $46,711,056.10.

$284,900 for Closed Banks.

Of the total, $32,990,180.23 was authorized to banks and trust companies, including $284,900 to aid in the reorganization of closed banks; $104,309.58 to agricultural credit corporations; $3,088,650 to building and loan associations; $2,247,500 to insurance companies; $90,000 to a joint stock land bank; $580,716.29 to live stock credit corporations; $747,000 to mortgage loan companies, and $6,962,700 to railroads.

Shortly before his decision to make the reports public, Trimble said a high administration official informed him this was "contrary to the wishes of the President, and was not authorized by law."

"I told him that I would announce my decision that day, but the report was not to be opened until August 22, being one month after the passage of the act," Trimble said. "He said that was a fair way to handle the matter as it would give any interested person who did not agree with my construction of the law an opportunity to petition the court for a restraining order."

No court attempt was made to prevent the publication.

Walter H. Newton, a secretary to the President, said Mr. Hoover would have no comment to make upon Trimble's action.

Hoover's Position Described.

"The President's position was well known at the time the bill was passed," Newton said, "and when it was passed it contained provisions which one end of the Capitol (the Senate) thought did not require publicity. But apparently the custodian of the records thought otherwise."

Newton said he knew of no one authorized to speak for the President who had talked with Trimble the day his decision was made to publish the records.

During the period covered by the report, 452 applications for loans were received, 360 from banks and trust companies, 41 from building and loan associations, four from insurance companies, one from a joint stock land bank, nine from live stock credit corporations, three from mortgage loan companies, four from railroads, and thirty from States, counties and cities for relief loans.

Fund for Farm Aid.

In addition to the loans, $5,000,000 was allocated to the Secretary of Agriculture for the farm loan fund, bringing the total set aside for that purpose to $97,500,000 since the corporation was created.

Besides the capital stock of $500,000,000, the report showed the board had issued $475,000,000 in 3½ per cent notes to June 16, and on July 23 had authorized issuance of a third series of notes, amounting to $250,000,000, maturing October 27, 1932, and bearing the same rate of interest. The notes are to be purchased by the Secretary of the Treasury as funds are needed by the corporation.

The corporation had $39,396,481 on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States on July 31, and $1,494,565 in custodian banks.

Giannini Denies His Bank Got Loan of $3,800,000

San Francisco, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board of Bank of America, denied today that the California branch banking system had borrowed $3,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as reported today by South Trimble, clerk of the House of Representatives.

"The Bank of America did not receive any money as reported," Giannini said. "We had applied for a loan some time ago, and the report probably covers the old application. However, since we applied, conditions changed for the better, and we decided we did not need the money."

The Washington report named the Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association as the recipient of the loan.

BANKERS TO TESTIFY IN TRIAL OF DUNCAN

opening statement on Duncan's behalf after the prosecution concludes the presentation of evidence.

Duncan's trial is the second to come before this term of court in which former county officials were involved. E. Wade Ball, treasurer for 24 years until his resignation in February, was acquitted last Friday of a charge of misuse of $24,454.

Ball faces trial on another indictment involving $65,000 in county funds. Commonwealth's Attorney Douglas said this case would be prosecuted at the fall term of court and that the State had no intention of asking that this charge be nolle prossed.

In his opening statement, Douglas charged Duncan, as clerk of the court, had the duty of collecting delinquent taxes and paying them over to the treasurer. These taxes, he said he would prove, were not paid over "when and as collected, but were paid occasionally and in varying amounts." "Mr. Duncan retained large sums of them for his own use," Douglas said.

When Duncan was ordered by the court in April to put the $7,815 highway check in the First National Bank at Alexandria, Douglas said, "he had failed to pay over to the treasurer something like $60,000, collected as back taxes."

Douglas said Duncan used official funds for personal use; "to keep any one from knowing what he was doing, he put fictitious, imaginary designations on the corners of his checks."

He also said the books of Duncan's office showing collections were altered, but the original receipt book, which showed the amount of taxes collected by days, was not changed. A comparison of the books, he said, would show the "changes made."

R. E. Remington, deputy county clerk, was the only witness heard yesterday. He identified the check from the highway department and attested to Duncan's position as an official. Defense counsel fought the introduction of the check as evidence and opposed submission of the court records in the condemnation proceedings and an injunction suit involved in them. His repeated objections were overruled by the court.

Carroll Pierce and George F. Downham, president and cashier, respectively, of the Citizens National Bank, are expected to be called as witnesses today. They have been instructed to bring with them deposit slips and ledgers, involving the Duncan account with the bank.

Of the first twenty jurors examined yesterday, fourteen said they had already formed opinions in the case and were excused.

13 IN 3 PLANES SET FOR SEA HOP TODAY

Eight Listed for Hutchinsons' Flight, Including Four in One Family.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—If good weather and present plans hold, thirteen persons will set out tomorrow from Floyd Bennett Airport in three planes on transatlantic flights to Europe.

The flying Hutchinsons—George R., his wife, and their daughters, 6 and 8—announced their take-off is scheduled for 9:30 a. m. (Eastern standard time) for St. John, N. B., the first stop on their journey to Scotland, via Labrador, Greenland and Iceland.

Their black and silver plane, "the flying family," will carry eight in all, a navigator, mechanic, motion picture operator and radio man in addition to the family.

Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen, Nowegian-Americans, have fixed their hour of departure at dawn, shortly before 4 a. m. They will fly to Harbor Grace, N. F., and then take off for Oslo, Norway, in a non-stop flight attempt.

Solberg will pilot their red and yellow plane. Petersen, who served as radio expert for the Byrd Antarctic expedition, expects to keep in touch with radio stations on both sides of the ocean.

The flight is backed by Notwegian-Americans who conceived the idea at an independence day celebration in Brooklyn last May.

In the third plane will be William Ulrich, with Edna Newcomer and Dr. Leon M. Piscuilli as passengers. They said they also intended to start tomorrow, but have not fixed a time. Their destination is Rome. Miss Newcomer has announced she will make a parachute jump over Florence, Italy.

Bad Weather Over Sea Delays Mollison's Hop

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A grave young man, who left his bride of three weeks to be the first to fly the Atlantic westward alone, will wing back to her in a day or so—just as soon as weather conditions permit.

That is not to say he'll "attempt" to fly back to her. With Capt. J. A. Mollison it's simply a settled fact that he's going to do it.

The only thing holding him back now on his return flight is the weather. He inspected his plane today and found it fit, ready, he said, for a take-off tomorrow. But weather conditions, he added, may prevent a take-off for two or three days.

Flying by Boardman Delayed Three Months

Springfied, Mass., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Russell N. Boardman, noted flier, injured here when his plane crashed a week ago, will not be able to fly again for three months, his doctors said today.

Boardman has not suffered any setback, however, the doctor said, in contradicting recent reports.

HELD TO BE QUARTET SPINSTER'S SLAYERS

Recluse and Housekeeper Linked With 2 Gunmen in Mississippi Death.

Natchez, Miss., Aug. 22 (U.P.).—Two Negro women told officers today that two Negro gunmen, accompanied by Richard Dana, 61, eccentric recluse, and his housekeeper, Miss Octavia Dockery, 60, slew Jane Surget Merrill, 72-year-old wealthy spinster, at her antebellum estate, Glenburney.

The women, Emily Burns, and her mother, Nellie Burns, broke down after a week's relentless questioning, it was learned unofficially.

They accused Percy Perry, a "tough" Negro character here, and George Pearles, who was himself shot to death by Pine Bluff (Ark.) police two weeks ago, as two of the killers. The women said they had been on friendly terms with the Negro men and they had been told about the slaying of Miss Merrill by them.

The two women said their information was that Pearles did the actual killing of Miss Merill. They accused Dana, mentally incompetent master of an estate adjoining Glennburney, of carrying the spinster's body from her house and depositing it in a thicket 200 feet from the house.

Perry, who has been in jail for several days in connection with the case, was spirited from town a second time late today. It was learned officers took him to a spot "in the woods," 12 miles away, for further questioning. He contradicted the women's confession.

"FLYING BOUDOIR" DOWN WITH RECORD

presented to them and Mrs. Marsalis obliged cameramen by kissing Reese three times. The last time, she said, laughing:

"Do I have to kiss this man again? My husband might see this."

About this time attendants became aware that Mrs. Thaden had not uttered a word. She was unable to walk and had to be carried to a home nearby. She was given a sedative and it was announced she would remain there overnight.

Both women were very deaf from their long flight.

"I'm going to stay an hour and a half in a bath tub," declared Mrs. Marsalis. She wanted a bath and good meal most. After that, she said, she would sleep till noon tomorrow.

"Every time we tried to sponge off up there some plane would come along and we would have to run away from it," she said.

Stewart piloted the refueling plane and Reese, a parachute jumper and plane acrobat, handled the refueling hose. Mechanics reported the women's plane in perfect condition. They broke the seal on the motor when it went up at 1 p. m. Saturday, August 13.

Casey Jones, manager of the airport, ordered the women to descend late today because, he said, "it was becoming too strenuous for them." The women hope to go to the national air races in Cleveland, and considered flying there before coming down. This plan was abandoned because it endangered their record, as national aeronautical regulations require they land at the field where they took off.

They passed the previous women's record of 123 hours late last Friday. It was held by Edna May Cooper and Bobby Trout, who sent congratulations to the new champions.

The women were sent up a new supply of cold cream today, which enabled them to "pretty up" for their landing.

Subterfuge Is Charged To State Department

Lynchburg, Va., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—United States Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, in a statement issued at his home here today, accused the State Department of "disgraceful subterfuge" in its reply to foreign loan charges made by Franklin D. Roosevelt, in his speech at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday.

Senator Glass said he plans to "again present the indubitable facts to the public" regarding the "successful flotation of millions of dollars of worthless foreign securities now choking the portfolios of banks throughout the country."

WALL STREET HEARS OF TRADE IN WHEAT

Farm Board Reported to Be Considering Plan With Chile for Nitrate.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A trade with Chile in which wheat would be exchanged for nitrate was reported in the financial district today to be under consideration by the Federal Farm Board.

Chile, it was said, needs wheat at present and has little foreign exchange with which to purchase it abroad. The Farm Board, it was pointed out, has plenty of wheat, which it bought for cash. It has already traded some 25,000,000 bushels to Brazil for coffee, and it was thought a profit might be seen in making a similar deal with Chile for nitrate.

Immediate negotiations on the wheat-nitrate trade are not expected, owing to the absence in Mexico of the Chilean Ambassador to Washington.

Trio Land in Jail After Asking Lift

Three Capital Men Awaken Fairfax Policeman; Fined $10 Each as Drunks.

Three Washington men found they had picked the wrong house to demand transportation back to the Capital early yesterday after they had driven their automobile into Holmes Run. They discovered their error when they paid $10 each and costs in Fairfax County Court later yesterday on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Sergt. Heywood Durrer, of the Fairfax County police, said he was awakened about 3:30 a. m. by a heavy pounding on his front door and the trio shouting commands that they be taken to Washington.

"I'll take you, all right," he said he told them, and after putting on his clothes, took them to jail. The trio gave their names as Hunter Munter, 1447 Fairmont street northwest; J. M. Tanaver, 1439 Maryland avenue northeast, and M. G. Cannon, 602 A street southeast.

Woman and Priest Buried Same Time

New Haven Police Hold Off Crowds at Mystery Pair's Rites.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A special police detail held back a large throng today at the funeral of the Rev. Joseph P. Cournoyer, who was found dead in his garage Friday shortly after the body of Miss Lavinia Moran was discovered in a bedroom of his rectory.

Seventy priests, members of religious societies, and only a few parishioners were admitted to St. Louis' French Catholic Church for the service, at which Auxiliary Bishop Maurice F. McAuliffe, of Hartford, officiated. Outside a crowd sought admittance, but officers kept order.

Miss Moran, a public school teacher and an active worker in the parish, was buried at the same time, St. Brennan's Church was filled to capacity for her funeral.

Meanwhile, an examination of her internal organs was continued in an effort to determine whether she died of natural causes. Father Cournoyer's death was attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning, but Coroner James J. Corrigan has declined to say whether it was accidental until his formal report is issued.

$15,000 Asked for Alleged Injuries.

Charging that a cab of the Black and White and Yellow Co. collided with a car in which she was a passenger and she suffered serious injuries, Myrtle Young, of Bethesda, Md., yesterday filed suit against the cab company for $15,000 in the District Supreme Court.

CHAPIN NOTES SHIFT IN TRADE SENTIMENT

Commerce Secretary Says Business Parley Here Will Aid Industry.

(Associated Press.)

Discussing economic conditions, the new Secretary of Commerce, Roy D. Chapin, said last night in a radio address that "America is on its way to win this fight."

"I think we have all felt a distinct change in spirit within recent weeks," he said. "There is no doubt that a new and aggressive mood is gripping the country, a mood more typical of American buoyancy and fighting spirit."

Secretary Chapin said "If it had not been for the (foreign debt) moratorium proposed by our President, * * * a still larger number of stores on main street would have had to close." He said there is a complicated but real connection between collapse of a large private bank in Europe and failure of an American store.

The Secretary cited the departure of England and other countries from the gold standard as having added to America's difficulties.

"The President's nine-point program," Chapin said, "is a clear-cut and forceful statement of his constructive aim to bring about a happier picture. * * * The gathering of business leaders in Washington this week means much to industry, agriculture and labor."

He expressed a belief that "a new feeling of hope is reaching into every section and said that "translating this spirit into action is the duty ahead for all of us."

"The next six months," he said, "will be momentous in the history of these United States. To turn the tide, every energy must be bent toward a constant impetus forward."

THREE CAPITAL RESIDENTS DIE IN HYBLA VALLEY AIR CRASH

party after long persuasion. Mrs. Hamilton was invited to be the first passenger in the plane, but declined because of her 5-month-old son. She said she would rather some one else took the first trip and she would follow later.

The first two passengers took their places in the front seat ahead of Howell about 6 o'clock. Howell had warmed his plane up about five minutes nad announced everything in readiness.

Heat Repulses Friends.

The plane coursed off in the direction of Washington, gained an altitude of about 500 feet and then made a wide half turn to circle the field.

It made a sudden sharp banking turn when it came over the center of the field, began to lose altitude rapidly and then went into a spin. Howell at last managed to straighten it out, and for a time the ship flew on a level keel only 50 feet from the ground.

Then it dropped straight down "pancaked." The horrified friends of the trio started to run forward, but almost before they could make their feet obey a mass of flame shot 40 feet into the air. The gasoline tank burst and caught fire. The intense heat drove every one back. They could only stand in horrified helplessness as the brilliant blaze leaped heavenward in the gathering dusk.

Fiancee Collapses.

The coowner of the plane drove on the field just in time to see it crash. Shrader, his brother, Cranston Shrader, of 325 F street northeast, and John Jackson, of 726 Seventh street southwest, had come to take a ride in the plane.

Reginald Shrader, a mechanic of marked ability, said he had carefully checked the plane and motor Sunday and both appeared to be in perfect shape.

At the time of the crash Elsie Hardy, of 1336 South Carolina avenue southeast, fiancee of Howell, was waiting for him at a boat club not far from the field. They had a date to go speedboat riding when Howell had finished flying. She collapsed when she heard of his death.

Was Speed Enthusiast.

The hand extinguishers at the airport were useless to cope with the fire. Nothing could be done to smother the flames until the arrival of firemen from Alexandria. The Alexandria Hospital ambulance had arrived shortly before.

The bodies of the three were burned beyond recognition. They could be identified only by their positions in the wreckage. Miss White had been seated on the right and Ehrenfeld on the left in the front seat and Howell took his place in the pilot's seat in the rear.

Howell had always been enthusiastic along mechanical lines. He had built and owned two motorboats and kept a speedboat even after his acquisition of the plane. He also owned two motorcycles. Recently he recovered from a broken leg suffered, in a motorcycle accident about eight months ago.

His sister, Miss Diana Howell, came to Washington to visit him a few days ago. She has been living in Mississippi. Miss Howell was visiting friends and was not at the airport at the time of the crash.

Miss White was a native of Bealeton, Va., and came to Washington to study nursing. After graduation at Garfield Hospital, she took a position in the office of Dr. Charles L. Smith, dentist in the Columbia Medical Building. She is survived by her father, five sisters and three brothers, including Jake White, of Clarendon.

fixed the pipe and came on to Atlanta with ordinary gasoline. He previously had been reported missing at Spartanburg but in official recheck showed he had left there for Atlanta.

Cecil Coffrin, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had not checked in at Winston-Salem when the contestants left this morning, officials said.

Shortly after the first three landed here the other contestants crossed the line, separated only by seconds, J. H. Hays, Ponca City, Okla., was given fourth place; Harold Newman, Moline, Ill., fifth; J. D. Crane, New Haven, Conn., sixth; Chappy Lennox, New Haven, seventh; P. A. Sturtevant, Elmhurst, Ill., eighth; W. F. Cummings, Donaldsonville, Ga.

Elapsed time for the first three was computed as follows: Tuohy, 1 hour 35 minutes; Dorset, 1 hour 33 minutes 24 seconds; Miss McCloskey, 1 hour 32 minutes 11 seconds.

J. A. Fields, of Bradford, Pa., flying a 7-year-old plane powered with a 16-year-old motor, was forced down by engine trouble on a golf course a few miles from the airport. Later he completed his journey to Candler Field.

The fliers were given a banquet here tonight and will take off tomorrow, with Birmingham, Ala., as their stop to lunch and Jackson, Miss., as their stopping place for the night.

Dorset leads in total points scored since the flight began yesterday in Washington. Official scorers tonight gave him 391.5 points; S. C. Huffman, Cincinnati, 259; Tuohy, 256.35, and Miss McCloskey, 171.

NUDISTS FIGHT REICH DECREE BY "STRIKE"

Prussian Dictators Beset by New Crisis as Drive on "Immorality" Opens.

Berlin, Aug. 22 (U.P.).—Already beset by grave political problems, the dictorial Prussian government tackled another today when it attempted to enforce a new decree against nudity—and met with a bathing beach "strike."

As foreshadowed ten days ago by Dictator Franz Brachi's decree suppressing nudity on beaches and in cabarets, the government proclaimed a dictatorship over the morals of the state and instructed police to put the new regulations into effect throughout two-thirds of Germany.

The restrictions on nude bathing and abbreviated bathing suits raised a flurry of protest at the fashionable resorts and all along the popular Baltic coast vacationers threatened to desert the beaches unless they were spared the molestation of the "morals squad."

One woman at Kloster was arrested because the wind blew her bathrobe and disclosed her legs. At the lakes near Berlin, haunts of thousands of scantily clad bathers as well as of nudists, police arrested many persons and warned thousands not to return until they put on more clothes.

There are some 30,000 nudists in Germany and virtually all of them meet at remote places along the banks of the Havel or the Spree near Berlin each Sunday. By a stroke of the pen, the government attempted to regulate their meetings, declaring they could not appear in public—that is, any spot which could be seen from a road or from the water.

A maximum fine of $35 was provided for transgression.

London, Aug. 22 (U.P.).—A campaign against nudity which is "the greatest social error women can make because the average female figure is definitely unpleasing" was started today by the News Chronicle.

"For every ten girls with pretty faces, not more than one has a really pretty figure," the newspaper said in condemning the appearance of thousands of young women at the bathing beaches in "the flimsiest" sort of brassieres and the "shortest of shorts."

New Huge Credit Board Organizes

Buckner Is Likely to Head Commodities Finance Corporation.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The first organization meeting of the new $50,000,000 Commodities Finance Corporation was held today.

Representatives of member banks of the New York Clearing House Association which have agreed to subscribe the necessary working capital for the corporation were in attendance.

It was widely reported in Wall street that Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the National Credit Corporation, would be designated to act as head of the new commodities corporation.

It was also understood the official personnel of the new organization had been definitely decided on, although at Buckner's office late today it was said no announcement on this point was likely at this time.

Kossowski Arrives For Air Races.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A floral wreath dropped from an autogiro to the deck of the S. S. Pulaski greeted Col. Jerzy Kossowski, Polish war ace, today, as the liner steamed up the bay. Col. Kossowski is on his way to Cleveland to compete in the international air races. The autogiro was flown by Lieut. Kenneth M. Murray, who served with the colonel against Bolshevik forces.

Judge Apologizes On Rum Sentence

Explains His Plight With Parties "Somersaulting" on Prohibition.

San Francisco, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—During the trial of a prohibition case today, Federal Judge William B. Sheppard, of Pensacola, Fla., commented: "With both (political) parties flopping and turning somersaults on the prohibition question, a judge hates to look a man in the face and then sentence him to prison for a violation of the prohibition law."

The Florida jurist is sitting in Federal district court here while Judge Frank H. Kerrigan is on vacation.

In another dry law case Judge Sheppard, without giving his own views, said sentences for violations over the country vary, and a visiting jurist must first be advised of the sentiment in the community if he is to follow practices of that district.

UPSWINGS CONTINUE GROWING IN VOLUME

1,200 Get Factory Jobs in Illinois; Freight-Car Loadings Increase.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Chicago—Twelve hundred persons recently have been given full-time employment by the business pick-up in factories reporting to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce from six Illinois cities. The reports indicated the accelerated operations will continue at least well into the fall.

New York—Freight car loading reports showed a gain of more than 16,000 cars last week over the week before, indicating, business observers said, the normal autumnal upswing has set in. The report lent stimulus to the stock market, which reached new highs for the summer. Wheat also rose slightly in Chicago, while the cotton market here also displayed bullishness.

Chicago—More evidence that the Nation is raiding secret depositories was given over the week-end, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad officials believe, by the appearance of much old currency and silver in purchasing excursion tickets to nearby points. The railroad men said their road's principal excursion was attended by more than the number of persons they had stipulated as capacity.

Chicago—The Indiana Limestone Co.'s unfilled orders, company officials said, are 70 per cent greater now than at this time last year, totaling 1,791,582 cubic feet of stone compared with 1,096,612 least year.

Springfield, Ill.—More than 819 miles of improved roads have been constructed in Illinois this year, Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer, announced. More than 7,000 men have been employed.

Tifton, Ga.—The Imperial Tobacco Co.'s dry plnat here has resumed operations and employed approximately 250 workers.

Senators Planning Hoover Dam Visit

Committee May Inquire Into Alleged Mistreatment of Workers.

(Associated Press.)

The Interior Department said yesterday the Senate irrigation committee plans to visit Hoover Dam in about ten days in response to an invitation extended by the department several weeks ago. This was the only comment on a statement by Senator Oddie, of Nevada, in Salt Lake City, threatening a Senate investigation unless steps are taken immediately to end alleged mishandling of Hoover Dam workers.

"The Senate irrigation committee was invited some time ago to include Hoover Dam on its itinerary this summer," a spokesman for the department said. "We shall be happy to have the committee see all features of the work at Hoover Dam, including how the workers are treated."

Charges by the senator concerning the handling of employes previously have been attributed by the department to misinformation.

Voluntary Freight Rate Cut Looms, Is Report

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The Sun said today that the railroads will point out the necessity for a voluntary cut in freight rates when the forthcoming negotiations for lower scales are taken up.

The roads will lose next March the benefit of the miscellaneous increase in rates granted last year by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and it is stated that many executives feel that reduced schedules must be posted to promote the free movement of commodities, whose producers and consumers have suffered reductions in returns to prewar levels, and to compete with motor and waterway transportation.

New Dam Planned On Tennessee River

U. S. Project Near Shoals Would Be Used to Aid Navigation.

(Associated Press.)

To aid navigation on the Tennessee River, the War Department plans to build a new dam near Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Construction will begin as soon as $30,000,000 appropriated by the relief act for rivers and harbors work is made available by the Treasury. That is expected soon by Department officials.

What proportion of this amount will be allocated to the Muscle Shoals project, known as Dam No. 3, will be determined by Secretary Hurley as soon as the funds are available. The dam is intended solely to improve navigation and has no connection with the war-time power and nitrate plant, at Muscle Shoals.

More than 70 other projects also are planned, but indications were a substantial part of the total sum would be devoted to the Alabama Dam. The other projects were not made public.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A chic fall costume in gun metal gray suede cloth and navy blue lightweight wool, worn with navy blue accessories. (Courtesy of Jane Regney, Paris.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.—The art of giving is one of the most graceful of human gestures. One of the most soul satisfying, too. Note that I said the art of giving, not merely giving.

Because ungracious, or insincere or indifferent giving is neither graceful nor gracious. And, excepting to a very crude person, indeed, it is impossible to accept any gift offered without graciousness and grace.

How I regret that the art of making gifts to a loved one has fallen into such disuse! Another sacrifice to progress, I guess.

Yet this need not be the case, if one just stops and thinks—and then acts upon one's convictions. It takes something to remind us—that's all. To remind us of the thrill of making gifts, however small, however large, gifts that both express the taste of the giver, and are a silent compliment to the appreciative taste of the receiver.

All this because I have just received a gift! A box of sweets, yes, sent all the way from Boissier's, the famous sweet shop on the Champs Elysees. And sent by some one as a wordless yet subtle reminder that my continued absence was noted, and regretted. Ah, the gentle, gentle art of giving!

* * * *

Have I told you about the gorlicious new sports gloves of tanned washable kid, the color of fresh butter? They are so very much the thing for sportswear—driving especially, as there are ribs all the way along the fingers which prevent the hands from slipping on the wheel. 'N' if that of-fisher ever crosses muh pawth again! That is, he had better not—'cause I go fast when I drive to Dawn Mirage along the moon-drenched asphalt—or is it macadem?

* * * *

In the gift thought today, I ask you if you can think of a single, solitary gift you could make to a woman friend that could be better appreciated and of more enduring charm than a set of some dainty frothy thing you had made with your own clever fingers? No matter how much money your friend may have—or how little; no matter how many pretties she has, she never has enough collars and cuffs and dainty hand-made things! Nor do you have, either, in your wardrobe. Better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make some dainty and lovely new ones!

* * * *

They can call it suede cloth if they wish, and, of course, we won't say a word, even though we guess that suede cloth is a new version of that beautiful fabric I always liked so much, called duvetyne! Be that all as it may, this material is having quite a vogue this fall in coats, and occasionally in street costumes.

* * * *

By the way, when the French say "costume" did you know that that usually means a street dress? A street dress like the one I illustrated for you today, too. This one is from Jane Regney, of Paris, and developed in gun metal gray suede cloth, with the sleeves and upper part of the bodice in navy blue woolen. This is a smart combination, by the way. And I should say that navy blue accessories would be perfect with this, wouldn't you?

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO"

IF August 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:10 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and from 8:40 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are form noon to 1:10 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

Astrological influenees on August 23 will be of too vitalizing a nature for a dull day to be possible. It would be well to let events shape themselves, as Fate will be in an upsetting mood and a few things will be pulled off as prearranged. Those with pronounced psychic instincts will sense some extraordinary phenomena during the evening hours.

The child born on this August 23 will be one of whom its parents may be proud. It will have an affectionate nature, an alert mind, and a willing heart. It will take to educational advantages, and money would not be wasted, especially if it be a boy, on a specialized training for the future.

If born on August 23, you want a gay, colorful existence, with considerable excitement. You prefer, however, to float on the current of Life rather than swim by your own efforts toward the shores beyond which lie the lands of your desires. Like all drifters, you do not know where you will land, but hope for the best. You are a very good fair weather sailor, but a disgruntled one when foul winds blow your way. You are not good at supplying your own sunshine.

You are one of those who can go to bed all day and stay up all night, simply because you have no method. You are always disturbing the routine of your more systematic relatives or friends. It gets on your own nerves to always be behind time, but you do not seem able to alter your ways. You are a born time waster.

There is a great deal that is likeable in your nature, and you will never be without admiring friends. You are extremely generous, and out of the kindness of your heart are always making rash promises which are hard to redeem. You like to talk too much to be an eager reader. Jealousy will upset the happiness of your home life.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Screen Stars Consider Shapely Legs Extremely Important.

SURVEYING the crowds at the seashore, one sees many badly shaped legs which in themselves would be good enough reason for never reaching Hollywood. For the film world believes that beautiful pedal extremities are extremely important. And many a star has exercised bulgy and bulky ankles to slim beauty, or called in a masseuse to skillfully trim down the "fatted calf."

Sally Eilers.

Of course, there are some stars, like Sally Eilers, whom the fates have smiled on. Sally has been called the "legs of the Fox lot," and whenever a pair of beautiful legs are to appear in a scene, Sally is called in. I daresay if that charming lady did no exercise at all, her legs would still remain lovely to look at; they are so naturally perfect. But that doesn't mean that Miss Eilers doesn't exercise to keep their eye-thrilling proportions! Miss Eilers is also known as the girl who wore the pants. You remember, she was first spotted by Mack Sennett who was looking for a girl to take the place of Alice Day, for Alice had walked out on him following an argument over wearing pants in a role. Miss Eilers is a practical joker of the first water and, whisper it softly, she hates to learn her lines. You would hardly believe it after seeing her in her recent successes, "Bad Girl," "Reducing," "Over the Hill" and so on. But with legs like Miss Eilers, a memory lapse concerning lines is readily forgivable.

Clara Bow.

Clara Bow insists that it is even more important for a trim ankle to accompany a pretty face than for the face to top the ankle. And the "It" girl, believing, as does the writer, that Fashion is very fickle, warns women to keep their legs shapely in season (meaning the bathing season, of course) and out (out meaning under long skirts). Aside from massage by one who knows, Miss Bow recommends the simple exercise of rising slowly on the toes and lowering just as slowly many times during the day.

Roller Skating.

And the latest Hollywood hobby is roller skating. Young and old are doing it. Already the people in New York who are fortunate enough to live in the fashionable neighborhood near Central Park are whispering that more and more adults are skating on rollers.

Stores report an increase in roller skate sales to grown-ups. Before long we will have outdoor as well as indoor roller skating rinks, just as we have ice skating rinks. Not a bad thing for the legs, for the exercise shapes hips, thigh, calves and ankles, keeps waistline trim and back muscles strong and supple. Peggy Shannon, the delightful tomboy type, used to run after ice wagons and hang on, on skates, and could hang on until the bearings burned out.

If you remember the invigorating thrill of skating "when we were young" try it again, I dare you!

And for those of you who dare not—or can not—skate—my "Beautiful Legs" bulletin contains several simple exercises that you can do unobtrusively at home. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SUN SUIT ENSEMBLE.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

For back-yard play in hot weather a little girl needs just two garments in addition to her socks and shoes: A dress, and an undergarment. In fact, if the undergarment is also a sunsuit, she needs no other clothes at all, until her mother wishes her to appear in the street or at the dinner table, or to be protected from cooling off too quickly when she comes into the house out of the hot sun. The panties of the sun-suit can match the over-dress, which, if designed to open like a coat, can be slipped on in a jiffy.

A practical self-help sun suit has been planned by the Bureau of Home Economics specialists. It consists of a romper with a net top, which buttons down the front, and a matching tailored dress, opening also in front, so that the little girl can dress herself without difficulty, and change from play togs to street dress very promptly. When she grows taller the tabs on the shoulders of the romper can be slipped back to give her greater length, by moving the buttons.

The dress is made with very short raglan style sleeves, wide at the edge. Fullness front and back is laid in inverted box pleats. These features and a deep hem allow for growth. There is no collar to roll up and make the child hot. Instead the neck and front edge have been finished with a strong net trimming made by blanket stitch whipped with a thread of contrasting color.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A new capelet shoulder effect lends a certain charm to this youthful blouse, so cool and summery.

A tub silk in primrose yellow made the original. It's just lovely worn with a white tub silk, wooly type cotton or thin woolen skirt.

Embroidered organdie, dotted voile, candy striped batiste and both sportsweight and sheer linens are equally suited to this easily made blouse.

Style No. 2929 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 35-inch material. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

FINDING THE SLAM TRICK.

WHEN conventional defense is made against a bid which has taken into consideration the full trick-taking power of the combined holdings, the task of the Declarer is greatly lightened. Those who always lead the fourth best, regardless of the declaration and without regard to their holdings, may be good citizens, but they certainly make the play of a hand at Contract comparatively simple. Those who depart from the hoary traditions of Whist, even in the simple matter of making a lead, give to the Declarer an opportunity for real brilliancies in the play.

An interesting example of the difficulties of defending against an unconventional lead was furnished in the recent Philadelphia mixed pair tournament, played at the Wissahickon Club with the following hands:

South—Dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

Miss Sue White
♠ 10 2
♡ A J 2

♠ J 8 6 3 ♡ K 10 8 6 ◇ 9 5 ♣ 9 7 2 — ♠ 7 5 4 ♡ 9 7 5 ◇ Q J 4 2 ♣ 10 8 6

Mr. C. H. Goren

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	3◇	Pass
3NT	Pass	4NT	Pass
6NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding requires no particular comment. It is strictly in accordance with the Approach-Forcing System, with South, the Dealer, correctly giving a minimum response to his partner's Forcing Takeout, but holding sufficient excess values to justify accepting the Slam invitation, which was issued by his partner subsequent to the "sign-off."

At most tables the Slam was reached. Where the normal Opening was the fourth best card of the longest and strongest suit, a lead justified by tradition dating down from the days of Whist, the contract was easy, but at the table where Mr. Charles Goren and Miss Sue White were partners, West departed from conventional lines by opening the 9 of diamonds, a short-suit Opening against the notrump declaration. The lead, however, furnished the key to the correct play of the hand, and at that table accurate play was required to make the contract. From the Opening of the 9 of diamonds, it was apparent that only the two top cards in that suit could be counted upon to help fulfill the Slam contract. Mr. Goren held the South hand and to him it appeared there would be two chances to make the hand: (1) The Knave of spades would drop. This situation took care of itself when it failed to occur. (2) The King of hearts was held by West and thus was finessable, and the Queen might be made on an end-play.

Winning the first trick with the King of Diamonds in Dummy, South returned to his own hand with the spade, and immediately took the finesse in hearts. When this won, all the high cards were run off, and West, whose hand was then void of everything but hearts, was pitched in with the last spade and compelled to lead away from his hearts, permitting South to make 3 heart tricks and thus fulfill the Slam contract.

An accurate plan of play had thus succeeded against an absolutely correct Opening. The work of the Declarer had been made more difficult, but the Slam was still available to a thoughtful player.

Today's Pointer.

In playing Bridge, in order to realize the full trick-taking power of the cards, a player must be quick to visualize the possible holdings of his opponents and change his plan of campaign as the patterns of the closed hands are disclosed.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

THAT LIFE SAVING NIP.

A RECENTY received letter related to a man who was drinking pretty steadily. When he arose he took some toddy in order to feel fit for the day. After that he took a snort every few hours. He had heard that drinking whisky was bad for a man, and he thought that might be true of the ordinary man but he was certain it did not apply in his case.

He always felt fine in the morning after he had had a drink or two. Before he had his pickup he felt terrible. While he was hard at work during the day, at least once before lunch and once toward the latter part of the afternoon, he would feel as though he were running down. Whenever this feeling came on he would take a good, stiff drink and, after that, he was back to full efficiency.

These were observations which he had checked for several times. Therefore, he felt certain in his case whisky increased efficiency. For him it was a good thing. Others seemed to think it was bad for them, and that might be true, though he could not fully understand why what was so good for him could be so bad for others. However, he did not ask to interfere with the other fellow or even to change his opinion. All he asked was to be left alone, to take a drink whenever one was necessary to pep him up or to keep him equal to his job.

We are sure our friend is telling the truth. He runs down when the effect of his liquor is gone and, in the morning, he is a wreck until he has his eye-opener. He is quite right, that to get back up to par he must supply the alcohol hunger of his body cells.

Having agreed with him he may be willing to listen to a part of the story that has not been told. What he says, in substance, is that his tissues have acquired a taste for alcohol and unless that is satisfied they are willing to do some sabotage. If this taste is catered to there are immediate results—the machine, for a time, hits on all cylinders.

But as time goes on there must be an increased amount of priming. Finally, not even full priming suffices. The thing just won't work, or, if it does, works poorly. Whenever a man must have his drink before he can start the day, whenever the machine runs down when the stimulus runs out—then the man is in danger.

IT ALL DEPENDS.

Mrs. W. A. G. writes: Is an irregular heart dangerous? Can it be cured? Would it be harmful for a woman with an irregular heart to bear children?

REPLY.

There are several causes of irregular pulse. Among them are nervousness, goiter, excessive use of tobacco or coffee, and certain diseases of the heart valves, vessels, muscles, or nerves. Some cases of irregular pulse are of no importance. Some call for no treatment. Some are dangerous.

RAPID PULSE.

M. B. T. writes: I am 16 years old. A doctor told me my pulse is almost double what it should be. At times my heart thumps and pounds as though it would break through my chest. Is this caused from smoking? I have been smoking for almost a year and I used to smoke on an average of two packages of cigarets a day, but have cut myself down to ten or twelve a day.

REPLY.

Excessive use of tobacco is one cause of rapid pulse. Among others are goiter, heart disease, and, to some extent, nervousness.

PERSPIRATION NOT WEAKENING.

W. J. W. writes: What causes excessive perspiration and is it weakening?

REPLY.

Since perspiration is composed of little besides salt and water, excessive perspiration is not weakening, except there be no drinking water and no salt available. As a rule, it does no harm. People think it weakens, since weak people are prone to sweat excessively. Among some of the causes of profuse sweating are consumption, malaria, blood poisoning, sweating sickness, rheumatism, rickets, scurvy and diabetes.

NO DANGER IN SWIMMING.

Mrs. W. B. F. writes: I have a nursing baby 9 months old. Is there any harm in my swimming?

REPLY.

No.

MINERAL OIL.

Mrs. R. F. M. writes: Is it true that a daily dose of mineral oil will result in cancer? My doctor advises me to take a tablespoonful at night.

REPLY.

No.

SEE YOUR PHYSICIAN.

Mrs. L. B. L. writes: I have been cured of a slight case of tuberculosis of my left lung, two years this month. I feel fine.

1. Would it be safe to bear a child in the near future?

2. Would the child have any defects because of this illness?

REPLY:

1. It should be, but I think you had better get the opinion of your physician. Since you would be under strain and you are on ice that is none too thick, you should follow rules of right living during your period of expectancy.

2. No.

WILTON LACKAYE, 69, ANSWERS LAST CALL

Famous Creator of Svengali on Stage Succumbs in New York.

New York, Aug. 22 (U.P.).—The American theatrical world mourned today for Wilton Lackaye, one of its veteran and venerable personages, and as great an actor off the stage as he was on it.

He led a life of breathless speed, filled with monumental quarrels, lightning decisions, romantic incidents and melodramatic emotions, and today he died, with his second wife, "the romance of my latter years," and his son by his first marriage at his bedside.

If he had lived until September 30 he would have been 70 years old.

It was a recurrence of a heart ailment that brought him to the verge of death in 1926. Mrs. Kathryn Alberta Riley was his nurse during that illness. When he recovered he married her.

Famous as Svengali.

Lackaye had a flair, a tendency for the dramatic. He was educated for the priesthood. On his way to Rome, where he was to enter the College of Propanganda, he and his father attended a performance of "Esmeralda" in New York.

"Father, I'm going to be an actor," he announced with the final curtain.

Actor he became. Ten years later he was famous as creator of the role of Svengali in Paul M. Potter's dramatic adaptation of George du Maurier's best seller, "Trilby." He played the role for years. It was his best known and most celebrated part. But he also appeared in the plays of Sardou, Ibsen, Wilde and Brieux.

Row With McGraw.

He was one of the organizers of Actors' equity and he staged a monumental quarrel with John Emerson for its control. It was a long struggle and in the end he lost. Another of his famous quarrels was with John J. McGraw, former manager of the Giants, which for a time threatened to disrupt New York's famous Lambs club. Lackaye had been thrown down the stairs of McGraw's apartment house and McGraw was suspended from the club. When his friends attempted to get him reinstated, Lackaye threatened to resign. Mutual friends finally succeeded in bringing peace. McGraw was reinstated and Lackaye stayed.

In his later years, Lackaye sought to purify the stage. He went into retirement in 1927, but came back to play James Telfer in a revival of "Trelawney of the Wells," and roles in two other plays.

He was born in Loudoun County, Va. He spent four years in Georgetown University and held the master of arts degree from that institution.

vice presidents of the bank, and S. Elmer Brown, treasurer, for conspiracy, and it was indicated by the State that their case would be called next.

Former State Senator David A. Robb, of the counsel for the defense, made an appeal for reduction of sentence, declaring that his client had not been guilty of moral turpitude and that he was a victim of unfortunate circumstances. The court did not act on his plea.

Coblentz, following his sentence, said: "It was my hope and purpose to do my utmost to assist the depositors, in a constructive way, to reduce as far as possible their losses and to aid in bringing about a beneficial reconstruction. The verdict in this case and the sentence imposed interferes with this purpose.

"The record in this case speaks unmistakably of my honesty of purpose and rectitude of intention, in that not a single dollar of the depositors' money has been misappropriated, and there has been no pecuniary profit or advantage to me."

Judge Sloan in imposing sentence said: "While the court holds Coblentz knew of the condition of insolvency of the bank and was largely responsible for it, there is no evidence that he benefitted in the least by the transactions involved or that he improperly received one dollor therefrom."

Noted Methodist Bishop Is Interred

Rev. Earl Cranston, Civil War Veteran, Later to Get Arlington Rites.

New Richmond, Ohio, Aug. 22 (A. P.).—The body of Bishop Earl Cranston, dean of Methodist ecclesiastics, received its first burial today beneath a favorite oak before his farm home near here.

By Bishop Cranston's expressed desire, he will rest there until October, when his body will be moved to the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., because of his rank as a captain of Union forces in the Civil War.

JAPANESE EXPECTED TO RESUME FIGHTING

Reopening of Hostilities in Manchuria Soon Semi-Officially Confirmed.

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (A.P.)—Expectations that Japanese troops will be moving against Chinese armies again this fall received semiofficial confirmation today on the heels of dispatches telling of a sharp battle near Peipiao, in Jehol, the Chinese province which lies west of Manchuria.

A foreign office spokesman intimated that the favorable autumn weather probably will see a determined Japanese military action in Jehol.

The purpose of this expedition would be to establish Jehol unquestionably as part of the newly created state of Manchukuo, which was set up by power of Japanese arms to rule Manchuria.

Hand in hand with the foreign office intimations came a denial from the war office that the Japanese army had assumed the offensive in Jehol or that any large scale invasion of the province was contemplated at this time.

The clash near Peipiao, in which the Japanese suffered two casualties and the Chinese losses were reported to be heavy, was described here as a minor local affair.

Several hundred Chinese regulars took part in the action, Japanese correspondents at Chinchow, Manchuria, said in their dispatches. The war office announced that a Japanese detachment had pursued the Chinese to Nanling, 5 miles northwest of Chaoling Temple railway station in eastern Jehol, subsequently returning to Chaoling. The war office said this detachment constituted the only Japanese troops in Jehol.

Angry at Wood Cutting Pay, Jobless Kidnap Relief Head

Five Held in Charles City, Iowa, as $1.25 Daily Wage Causes Disgruntled Men to Abduct and Beat Woman Supervisor.

Charles City, Iowa, Aug. 22 (A.P.). Indignant over varied wages they said were paid from the city relief fund, a party of unemployed men today abducted Miss Marion Stull, Floyd County overseer of the poor, and held her prisoner for several hours.

She was released after being struck and rendered unconscious for a short time near New Hampton, 30 miles east of here, with an order to stay out of Charles City.

Five of the seven men who accompanied her on the automobile ride were among eleven later arrested by authorities and charged with conspiracy and kidnaping.

Miss Stull said she did not know the names of the other two men, but would be able to identify them.

Dissatisfaction over the maximum wage of $1.25 paid wood cutters from the unemployment relief was blamed for the trouble. Unemployed men put to work in county roads and community gardens were paid $2 per day, the wood cutters asserted, adding they were forced to work nine hours.

Between 50 and 75 workers invaded Miss Stull's office shortly before her arrival this morning. When she appeared they forced her into the car with the seven men and sped away. A hastily organized posse lost the trail when the abductors changed their route and returned to Charles City, where they took Miss Stull's automobile.

Then they continued to New Hampton, where they released her and abandoned her car. She drove to Alta Vista, 10 miles north of New Hampton, and telephoned Mayor G. C. Gray here that she was safe.

Miss Stull said the men had beaten her, twisted her knees and struck her in the back of the head until she lost consciouaness. Bruises were found on her arms and head, but she was not seriously hurt.

She said that, while the maximum cash wage per day for wood cutters was $1.25, food supplied could be earned by cutting more than one cord. She added that the number of days of work provided per week depended upon the size of the worker's family.

The workers denied that they had an opportunity to earn groceries in addition to their pay and claimed that Miss Stull had not treated them with proper respect. The county board of supervisors administers the relief funds but Miss Stull was directly in charge of the employment.

MT. VERNON GRANGE AGAINST POLICE CUT

Organization Opposes Any Curtailment in Fairfax County Force.

The abolition or curtailment of the Fairfax County, Va., police force in any manner was vigorously opposed by the Mount Vernon Grange at its monthly meeting. The grange adopted a resolution of protest when it learned a movement had been started to abolish the present county force. The proponents of the abolition movement contend taxpayers should not be burdened with county police to patrol the roads which are now in the new State secondary highway system.

Some of the grange members spoke in favor of maintaining the present police force. The general opinion seemed to be that the county police force is not sufficiently large to handle properly the law violators, the majority of whom are believed nonresidents. The secretary was instructed to write a letter to the board of supervisors informing them of the action of the grange.

A committee composed of Mrs. A. Harmon Roberts, chairman; Mrs. E. L. Finks, Mrs. L. I. Dolph, Kirk Wilkinson, T. Bentley Mason, George C. Gillingham, Herbert O. Blunt, A. H. Harrison and Kenneth Baker was appointed to investigate the advisability of holding a community fair near Woodlawn for Mount Vernon and Lee magisterial districts.

Mrs. Harmon Roberts, lecturer of the Fairfax County Pomona Grange, told of plans of the Pomona Grange to sponsor a contest in which the five subordinate granges of the county will participate. The contest includes the presentation by each grange of a play pertaining to the life of George Washington.

Crash Victim Is Not Kin to Calvin Coolidge

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Harry Ross, secretary to Calvin Coolidge, tonight said Charles B. Coolidge, of Los Angeles, Calif., who with two other persons was injured fatally in an automobile accident near San Bernardino, Calif., last night was not a relative of the former President.

Charles Coolidge, his wife and Mrs. Pearl R. McDougal, of Detroit, were killed in a three-car collision. A strong box in the Coolidge car held $100,000 in securities and correspondence with Calvin Coolidge which Coroner A. W. U'Ren had said indicated the man was a cousin of the former President. Ross said it was possible that Calvin Coolidge had carried on correspondence with the accident victim.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"
THE KING OF BEASTS
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Bransom . . . inspired by the brute force and savage cunning which has made the lion ruler of the African jungle.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

HOW ROOSEVELT CAN HELP.

One of the puzzling features of Gov. Roosevelt's speech at Columbus was his silence regarding the program adopted by the Government to relieve the depression. He gave much material to those who are discontented, and broadly suggested that they should hold President Hoover responsible for their misfortunes. But he could have made a much stronger case against Mr. Hoover if he could have shown that the program now unfolding is a humbug. Post-mortem discussion of the failure of President Hoover to foresee the depression would have greater force if it could be shown that he has failed to measure up to the responsibilities imposed upon him by the depression. The people are interested now in the recovery of the country, and if the measures taken by the Government are wrong they ought to know the facts immediately.

Gov. Roosevelt's "group of fundamental remedies" as set forth in his Columbus address are so far from constituting a national program for dealing with the depression and unemployment that it must be that he intends later to propose a program. His proposals relate to the regulation of sale of securities, supervision of banks, prevention of speculation by banks, &c. They have no relation to unemployment, the maintenance of financial stability, or measures for stimulating industry, commerce and agriculture.

The man above all others in the United States who should attack and expose the futility or wrong of the Government program for restoration of good times, if it is futile or wrong, is Gov. Roosevelt. If he should be elected he will either adopt this program or wreck it. Like all other citizens, he must be in favor of the early return of prosperity. As one who may become President he is expected to inform himself and then advise the country what he intends to do.

Mr. Hoover has laid before the country a program. Part of it has been made law, and part of it will be executed on his own initiative. The voters know fairly well what Mr. Hoover intends to do, and how he intends to do it. If Gov. Roosevelt does not approve of this program, and has one of his own, the voters are entitled to have a frank statement from him in order to compare his plan with that of his opponent. On this issue, more than upon any other, depends the welfare of the people during the next four years.

It has been suggested that perhaps Gov. Roosevelt hesitates to criticise the so-called Hoover program of national recovery because Democrats of the Senate and House cooperated in enacting much of the program into law. But if the program is wrong it should be criticized, so that errors and omissions may be rectified. Since the depression is nonpartisan, dealing damage to all men of all parties alike, it behooves men of all parties to cooperate in mutual defense. Democrats in Congress who supported the so-called Hoover program can not be expected to wield the individual influence over members of their party that is possessed by the national leader, Gov. Roosevelt. His approval of the anti-depression program would be an endorsement of nonpartisan cooperation by the Democrats in Congress, and would be an assurance that the program will be carried forward in case of his election; and his disapproval, if accompanied by constructive suggestions, would help Congress to frame a modification or a substitute.

In a word, as touching the so-called Hoover program of national rehabilitation, the people would like to know whether Gov. Roosevelt is for retention, modification, or repeal. Doubtless Gov. Roosevelt will find occasion to discuss the so-called Hoover program at an early date.

INDUSTRIAL CURVE TURNS UP.

Concrete evidence of an improvement in industrial conditions is contained in the report of the Department of Labor Employment Service for July. Indications of an upturn in industrial activity have been coming from all parts of the country in recent weeks. Statistics, which must necessarily lag behind actual conditions, now confirm the fact that the country is emerging from the slough of depression.

This improvement is more impressive since it took place during the middle of the summer, when business is usually slack. August will probably show a more pronounced upturn. A more optimistic feeling prevailed, according to the report of the Employment Service, with the outlook for August considered encouraging. Harvesting is under way. More workers will be needed to gather in crops, and farmers will soon be spending their yearly incomes on supplies for the winter.

When this report is coordinated with other recent developments in the economic field, it furnishes a substantial background for the more optimistic outlook of the people. Gold is again flowing into the United States. All thought of a money crisis has passed, and credit has been made available for all legitimate business activities. Commodity prices have turned upward, increasing nearly 1 per cent last month. A phenomenal appreciation of security prices has contributed to the improved credit situation and to the general attitude of the people.

When all of these factors are combined they represent considerable progress against the forces of depression. It is true that the psychological factor plays a large part in this improvement, but psychology also was a large element in the dark economic picture of two and three months ago. Unless some unforeseen forces cast a shadow over this "better feeling" it will sooner or later be transformed into more production and more consumption.

Progress toward better times is and should be slow. A too rapid rise would certainly be followed by another disastrous reaction. Steady improvement based on the solid foundation of supply and demand offers the greatest hope for recovery. As one factor after another becomes stable and a large majority of the lines in the economic chart begin to take an upward direction the entire industrial system gathers momentum.

RELIEF FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

After two years of floundering Pennsylvania at last has adopted a relief program. A special session of the legislature has enacted a 1 per cent retail sales tax to raise $12,000,000, which will be available to alleviate hunger and destitution. Pennsylvania is the last State to fall in line with a common sense program providing for its own unemployed.

All of Pennsylvania's delay in going to the rescue of its 1,000,000 jobless men seems to be a direct result of Gov. Gifford Pinchot's blind devotion to the idea of a Federal dole. Instead of taking steps to remedy the situation at Harrisburg, the governor has wasted his time pleading poverty in Washington. He did not give up hope of throwing the burden of unemployment relief upon the Federal Government until the Reconstruction Finance Corporation refused his petition for a loan.

Apparently the business-like manner in which the Reconstruction Corporation handled this matter awakened Pennsylvania's legislators to the realities of the situation. Until then, it seems, they had accepted the dismal statement of Gov. Pinchot that Pennsylvania was unable to care for its own people. Now it is apparent that all the legislature lacked was a little stimulus to action. When it once settled down to the task of raising money for relief, it encountered no difficulties.

Now Gov. Pinchot attempts to capitalize what Pennsylvania has done, by renewing his appeal to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. His pertinacity knows no shame, either for himself or his State. Apparently his plan is to nag the Government agency until it either lends him a lot of money or gives him a flat refusal. If it yields, he can distribute the money to the needy of Pennsylvania in a manner conducive to his best political interest. If it refuses, he will hold up the Hoover administration as a cold-hearted hypocrite which delights in withholding relief from starving Pennsylvanians.

As matters stand, Gifford Pinchot seems to be the only governor in the United States who is trying to make the miseries of his people a means of promoting his political schemes.

NO PRIVATE ARMY HERE.

In nearly every European state that is in political turmoil the situation is aggravated by the activities of private "armies." The foremost example at present is Adolf Hitler's "storm troops." Fear has recently been expressed that this militia would march on Berlin as Mussolini marched on Rome. The Nazi leader disclaims such intentions, but so long as he has a military organization at his command the danger of a coup d'état or open civil war is imminent.

The Irish Free State is likewise alarmed over the threats of two irregular military forces in that country. President Eamon de Valera's radical policy has so alarmed the conservative elements that they are organizing a "White Guard" to offset the unofficial Republican army. Neither group has any legal standing or any connection with the regular army. They are political agencies set up to fight political battles when oratory becomes ineffective.

Austria has suffered numerous disturbances because that government has permitted the organization of private armed forces by political groups. Wherever these private armies spring up they threaten widespread disorders, riots and civil warfare. Even though the intentions of the original organizers may be pacific, political-military groups nearly always precipitate disaster in one form or another.

Americans who contemplate the attempt of a few veterans to organize political-military groups in every State under the name of the Khaki Shirts of America can not help connecting the movement with the irregular "armies" that are plaguing European countries. Remnants of the bonus army that was ousted from Washington have appealed to every governor to aid in the establishment of such "bonus camps." The presence of such groups in the States would be no less a menace to law, order and democratic government than was the presence of the bonus army in Washington.

To attract public support the Khaki Shirts have shifted emphasis from the bonus to unemployment relief. But the movement which they are sponsoring is entirely incompatible with the reinstatement of workless veterans in their jobs. It would segregate veterans, accentuate their alleged grievances and encourage attempts to intimidate governmental agencies. Every bonus camp would be the nucleus of what might become an irregular semi-military force.

Chances that this movement will succeed are very slight. Yet it is well for State governments to be on guard against future difficulties from this source. States can take care of every veteran who is in need without permitting the militarist organization of special groups. There should be only one army in the United States.

The indictment of three bonus marchers for attacking policemen in the riot of July 28 is also an indictment of those who protest against the preservation of law and order.

Judge Seabury charges that Mayor Walker's brother "did nothing at all," just as if splitting fees with the city's doctors did not keep him busy.

If only one dry leader had asked Senator Borah to head a third-party ticket it might have been all right, but when two ask him the thing becomes too unanimous.

Here's hoping that Prof. Piccard's waste-basket headdress will be confined to the stratosphere.

VERSATILE STATESMEN

From the Boston Transcript.

It is nothing in derogation of a man's prestige or ability that after serving in the United States Senate he should run for the House, any more than it can be implied that a promotion of men from the House to the Senate equips them with extraordinary brain capacity. Since the announcement of former Senator James W. Wadsworth, of New York, that he will be a candidate for the House next fall, interest in transfers of this kind has been stimulated, and a little study discloses that the number of statesmen, or near-statesmen, who have "stepped down" is much larger than may have been supposed. The two outstanding classic examples of such demotion—we use the word only as a matter of technique—are Presidents John Quincy Adams and Andrew Johnson, the first of whom served in the House seventeen years after quitting the Presidency, while Mr. Johnson was returned to the Senate, from which body he had resigned in 1862, and served from March 4, 1875, to the time of his death.

As a matter of fact, no fewer than 24 men have served in the House after a career in the Senate. Many of these men, like Thomas H. Benton, Henry Clay, John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky; Timothy Pickering, of Massachusetts, and Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, were of outstanding ability and repute. A peculiar case was that of Albert Gallatin, of whom it may not be remembered that he was elected to the Senate and to the House before he made his unsurpassed record as the man who served longest as Secretary of the Treasury. Gallatin sat only a few months in the Senate, for when he took his seat a petition was presented alleging that he had not been a citizen of the United States for the term of years prescribed by the Constitution, and his election was declared void in 1794. His service in the House ran from March 7, 1795, to March 3, 1801, after which he entered the Cabinets of Jefferson and Madison. Crittenden served in the Senate, became Attorney General in W. H. Harrison's administration, was again elected to the Senate to fill the Henry Clay vacancy, became Attorney General under Fillmore, went to the Senate again, then to the House in 1861, and was a candidate for reelection when he died in 1863.

Clay contravened the 30-year age requirement in his first service in the Senate. He left that body in 1811 to go to the House, became Secretary of State under John Q. Adams, then returned to the Senate in 1831. He resigned twice from each branch, but died as a member of the Senate. Senator Benton closed his famous 30 years in Congress with one term in the House ending in 1855. Burton went from the House to the Senate, back to the House, then to the Senate again and died as a member of that body in 1929.

Almost all these former senators who ended up or served in the House were men of distinction. Timothy Pickering, of Massachusetts, was Postmaster General in Washington's Cabinet and served also as Secretary of War and Secretary of State. Jonathan Mason, of Massachusetts, was elected as a Federalist to the Senate in 1800 and served until 1803, and was a Federalist member of the House from 1817 until he resigned in 1820. William Pitt Kellogg, of Louisiana, between two elections to the Senate served as governor of that State during the reconstruction period. Charles Pinckney had been Governor of South Carolina and Minister to Spain before he closed his career in the House. Mr. Wadsworth will have illustrious predecessors should he become a representative next March after having become a prominent figure in the Senate. Of the present Senate, 28 members, including the Vice President, have been members of the House.

POST HASTE

The retrospective indignation of the Governor of New York over the speculative excesses of the New York Stock Exchange raises the legitimate question as to why the Governor of New York didn't do something about it. It's a New York institution.

The Iowa farmers' strike having reached the point where it is interfering with the rum runners, a settlement is imperative.

Mayor Walker has discovered that the fissures in his case are wider than wise cracks.

Gov. Roosevelt has never claimed direct connection with the family of the late Theodore, but young Gov. Teddy is coming over from the Philippines—well, just for campaign emphasis, since there seems to be considerable misapprehension.

Prof. Piccard, having gone up twice where there ain't nothing, a British balloonatic proposes to see seven miles more of it.

"Second leg of air derby completed." Why can't a flying race have wings instead of er-r—limbs?

Good example of restrained enthusiasm from the Labor Department: "There were also strong indications that this upward trend in employment was not entirely of a temporary character."

"I do not believe that in the name of the sacred word 'individualism' a few powerful interests should be permitted to make industrial cannon-fodder of the lives of half the population of the United States." Gov. Roosevelt really does not need to rely on "Alice in Wonderland" for his parables.

Newspapers complain of the plague of ocean hoppers, endurance fliers, bonus demands and political spielers, but they hold the only remedy—less publicity.

Hindsight is safer than foresight, so Gov. Roosevelt waited three years to get a proper perspective on the evils of the speculative boom.

American bond prices are up 35 per cent, many issues five times that, with sales this year having passed $2,000,000,000, a record not equaled in 1929. Some stocks have trebled in value in two months, the average increase being 80 per cent. There must be speculation here that doubtless will be curbed from Albany.

"Director says stage training is bad for the movies." Just as lessons in elocution and pronunciation must be considered deleterious for broadcasting.

It's a poor day's work when that confirmed internationalist, Sir. Arthur Salter, can't suggest a new plan for getting the United States mixed up in Europe's troubles.

A train of freight cars 150 miles long was added to the national movement last week to make the total train well over 4,000 miles in length.

It's a feat to win a marathon race, but a number of the runners also charged defeat to feet.

MONEY IN EGGS.

Holland exported about 1,350,000,000 hens' eggs in 1931. In 1900 that country imported 30,000,000, according to the Wall Street Journal. Then the Dutch farmer's wife began to realize there was money in eggs, and she increased the number of her hens, from about a dozen to an average of 100. She also studied up the scientific methods of the poultry business. The result was that Holland exported 15,000,000 eggs annually by 1907. That number has steadily increased from year to year, except during the period of the World War.

Many a Barren Oil Field Is Made Rich Again by Deeper Boring

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE loss of established foreign markets, now almost a certainty, need not increase America's surplus by one pound nor cost one man his job.

There is a simple and practical way to offset the loss and make it a blessing.

Foreign markets did not build themselves. They are the reward of initiative and courage, careful planning and tireless effort.

Similar effort and equal intelligence can build another market, greater in capacity, more easily reached and free from all competition.

There are in America millions of people to whom hard times seem a normal state. They have no acquaintance with luxury and little experience of comfort. They are hopelessly pauperized by the system that dominates their lives, and they have neither the initiative nor the intelligence to require of fate a greater share of earth's abundance.

Why should these live in want in a land embarrassed by its surplus?

Is there any reason why any family of workers in America should not be able to purchase abundant food, good clothes, a radio, an electric refrigerator, a vacuum cleaner, a car and a central heating plant?

Poverty isn't a necessary evil. It exists only because those who have power to abolish it never have realized how much they could gain by ending it.

If the great industrialists would study the problems of undernourished and underprivileged groups as they have studied to gain foreign markets, they could end poverty in America and thus add millions to the number of their customers.

It isn't a question of increasing wealth, for there is a "surplus" of everything now. It is a problem in reapportionment of earnings.

A greater proportion of the wealth produced must be given to those who can consume it.

That isn't altruism. It is sound business. Every pauper made prosperous becomes a good customer. Wages paid to labor come back to capital in the form of profits.

Make every family in America prosperous enough to buy the things required for health and happiness and our factories will be unable to supply the demand.

Why fight for a share of markets across the sea when richer markets lie undeveloped within our own borders?

Let other lands discriminate and boycott as they will. America has customers enough at home.

Why chase a dozen range cows every day when you can stall-feed one good one and get more milk?

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Not Oratory.

Detroit News.

President Hoover is no orator. He has no gift of mellifluous words, of resounding periods. His speech of acceptance will never be recorded in a Golden Treasury of the world's masterpieces of eloquence. But it will live in the memory of those who heard it, either in his immediate audience or by radio, as a great public utterance; great through no artifice known to the practiced public speaker, but because of the tremendous sincerity of the man who spoke.

It was in no sense the speech of a politician clinging to public office by bidding for easy popular favor. It came from the heart of a man who realizes to the depth of his being the tremendous task of President of the United States, the awful responsibility thereof; a man who has devoted to the people and their government his best abilities, and is confident that whatever the voters may say in November, he will be treated well by the considered judgment of history.

The Warrior's Silent Bugle.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It is reported that Mr. Smith's friends in New England, still sore over his treatment at Chicago, will be difficult to win over to the Roosevelt ticket. One blast upon his bugle horn was worth a good many thousand votes. But never a toot from the once Happy Warrior, who has betaken himself to his tent.

Now the question before the politicians is how to liquidate America's dry millions.

Better Army Housing.

Houston Post.

Representative Shannon, of Missouri, after visiting Fort Sill, Okla., is severe in his criticism of the condition of the housing at the fort. "I think the Government should be ashamed to house men in quarters like they have at Fort Sill. It is disgraceful. I can't imagine a more rotten situation."

Several years ago Gen. Summerall, just after he had been made chief of staff, went out to California, and he made a similar criticism of housing conditions at Army posts there. He was stopped from talking by orders from Washington. But since that time Congress has made some appropriations for improving housing conditions of the regular Army.

It is quite apparent, however, from the statement of Representative Shannon that not enough has been done to improve the situation. The tendency for several years has been to starve the Army. In the fight for economy in Government expenditures, the Army has been a special target, notwithstanding the force has been reduced until it is now a mere skeleton. It has not been possible to secure appropriations adequate to provide for decent housing for the soldiers at all the Army posts.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Candidates Can Not Be as Specific as Arithmetic, but Roosevelt Should State His Substitute for Hoover Program.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just read the Associated Press dispatch in which the Wisecrack Senator—I guess you know who I mean—takes a crack at Candidate Roosevelt. In the senator's opinion Gov. Roosevelt has a Mother Goose mind and his Columbus speech was "couched in terms of an intelligence of the first grade of the public schools."

In the same column in which the senatorial crack appears the opinion of Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for President, is reported. Socialist Thomas does not make any attempt to be funny—I guess there never was a Socialist with a sense of fun—but his thought seems to square with that of the Wisecrack Senator when he tells the Democratic candidate that if he does not "wish to run on words and phrases" he should be "more specific in what he is saying."

That may sound all very nice in its way, but I think there may be such a thing as missing the mark when you ask a candidate, whether Roosevelt or Hoover, to be as specific as a sum in arithmetic. I think Mr. Hoover was quite specific in his acceptance speech. Gov. Roosevelt must propose something constructive, because mere knocking will get nowhere. Besides, the average voter has sense enough not to blame Hoover for all the country's misfortunes. In the sense of furnishing a substitute for what President Hoover is doing, I think it is fair to ask Gov. Roosevelt to be specific.

Another point—it may be embarrassing to attack the Hoover program, in view of the fact that the Democrats in Congress voted for it. What will they think if Gov. Roosevelt attacks that program?

HICKORY.

Liquor Question Academic, Whatever That Means—Scoffs at Beer as Remedy for Country's Economic Colic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Notwithstanding its prominence in practical politics and in platform planks, the wet-dry question remains hopelessly academic. Before the eighteenth amendment it was academic. After the ratification of the eighteenth amendment it became more academic, and it always will be academic.

There never was a political issue in this or any other country in the discussion of which the changes of opinion have been so many and so academically accounted for.

Strange as it seems, the more the politicians try to bring the wet-dry question to a final settlement, the more academic it becomes. If the Democratic party should win this fall's election, or if the Republicans win, it will nevertheless continue to be discussed in Congress and by the rest of us from ten thousand academic slants.

If you want to understand what a perpetual mockery the wet-dry question is, it is only necessary to recall the Wickersham Commission and its academic hodgepodge of opinions and, at the same time enjoy the present example of such well-understood and opposing statesmen as Representative Beck and Gov. Ritchie agreeing upon academically alcoholic beer as a cure for the economic cramps and colics of the body politic.

I hope that The Post is correct in the belief that, while the liquor problem may attract undue attention for a time, "it is certain that as the campaign progresses the President's program for ending the depression, as compared with the program which Gov. Roosevelt is expected to elaborate, will become the chief subject of discussion."

JUST FOLKS

A BEGGAR'S PHILOSOPHY.

There came to me a beggar-man one pleasant summer day.
Despite his utter poverty he whistled on his way.
And this is what he said to me: "I've all the wealth I need,
There's always some one kind enough my hungry mouth to feed.
I follow many a winding trail and doze beneath the trees,
And whether winds blow high or low I do just as I please.
I never wince 'neath duty's lash nor bend my back to toil,
My friends are of the woods and hills and sky and stream and soil.

"I'm free to go where'er I will, I've cut all human ties,
I've run away from grief and care; behind me worry lies.
I have no wish for raiment fine, I'll be no slave to dress,
For there is none upon the earth I'm anxious to impress.
I face the world light-heartedly! No fretful debts I know.
Since none will trust a beggar blithe, there's not a man I owe.
But all the songbirds sing to me and every plant and vine
And every star that gems the sky and every stream are mine."

At first thought I this beggar-man has found the way to live.
He reaps contentment from the joys the things of Nature give,
But then I heard my youngster call and as he ran to me
I knew I wouldn't trade his smiles a care-free man to be.
For all the trees and all the flowers and all the sunny skies
I knew I wouldn't trade away the twinkle in his eyes.
I gave the beggar-man a dime, and as he went his way
I thanked him for reminding me how rich I am today.

RAILROADS OPPOSE U. S. BARGE LINES

Cost Taxpayers $24,500,000, Rock Island Solicitor Tells Shannon Group.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Objections of the railroads to Federal Government operation of Mississippi River barge lines were presented today to the Shannon congressional committee.

The committee, charged with studying the question of Government competition with private business, resumed its hearings here after a recess since its first hearing at Kansas City several weeks ago.

Bruce E. Dwinell, of Chicago, general solicitor for the Rock Island Railroad and representative of the Association of Railway Executives, presented the objections of the rail lines to the Government's operation of the barge fleet.

94 Instances of Competition.

Borter R. Leach, of Chicago, spokesman for the Federation of American Business, enumerated for the committee 94 instances of alleged Government competition with various private enterprises.

Dwinell told the committee the Government advertises its barge line service as Government owned and Government operated. Private business, he said, can not compete with such an organization. The barge line, Dwinell added, operates tax free, whereas railroads pay more than $300,000,000 yearly in taxes.

The railroad representatives said that according to the Government's own figures the barge lines have failed as a sound business proposition. Dwinell said the Inland Waterways Corporation has lost $275,000, and had it not reimbursed itself with interest of $288,000 of Government funds the loss would have been $563,000. He estimated the barge lines failed by more than $5,000,000 to earn the tax and interest charges which a private corporation would be forced to earn and pay.

Cost Put at $24,500,000.

The cost of the barge lines to the taxpayers of the United States was fixed by Dwinell at $24,500,000.

Leach left with the committee a brief in which he expressed the opinion that the business depression can be traced to "laws which permit bureaucrats to tax business men and use the money to enter into competition with these same men."

Another brief was submitted to the committee in behalf of the National Beet Growers Association, which has headquarters at Denver. This also opposed the Governments' operation of the barge lines.

Coast Guard Cutters Start Range Practice

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Coast Guard cutters sailed today to take part in short range practice off Cape Henry. The Ponchartrain was first to pass out the capes, followed by the Tampa, Sebego and Saranac. With them went the Carrabassett, towing a target.

Nine cutters assembled here for battle practice from the various divisions on the Atlantic and yesterday the Apache, which has its base at Baltimore, arrived with Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, commandant of the Coast Guard, who inspected the assembled fleet. The Apache then returned to Washington.

Virginia Motorists Slow In Seeking New Licenses

Richmond, Va., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A half million Virginia motorists will be caught napping and deprived of the right to operate their automobile next June 1, unless the rate of receipt of applications for the new drivers license under the 1932 motor vehicles law is materially increased.

Records of the division of motor vehicles show that applications have fallen off to a rate of 100 a day. Only about 175,000 of Virginia's 1,120,000 motorists have filed applications.

Boys Get 5 Cents Each As 'Guards'

Utah State Secretary Pays $1 Weekly to 20 and Vandalism Stops.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Milton H. Welling, secretary of State and custodian of the Utah State Capitol, disclosed today that he has been paying weekly "protection money" all summer.

But considering the cost—$1 a week—and the fact that projection, not only to the flowers and shrubs on the capitol lawn but even the goldfish in the reflecting pool, has actually been delivered, he thinks it's money well spent.

Investigating minor vandalism about the capitol last spring, Mr. Welling interviewed a group of boys playing on the lawn. They professed ignorance, but suggested that they be employed to guard the grounds. The suggestion was at first declined, and the vandalism continued. A few days later the secretary called the boys in and settled on the basis of a nickel a week for each boy. The depredations ceased.

Wall Street in Flurry At Truck Tire's Blast

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A sharp detonation which reverberated through the narrow canyon-like walls of Wall street and created widespread excitement was caused today by the blowing out of a tire of an armored truck in front of the J. P. Morgan & Co. building.

The armored car, loaded down with more than a ton of gold, which was being moved from the present Subtreasury building, just opposite Morgan's, to a new Government vault in the neighborhood, had just pulled out of the historic Treasury building when the mishap occurred, directly in front of the Morgan building.

Deportation Hearing Held Over Aviatrix

Miami, Fla., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Hearing on a deportation warrant issued against Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix and a principal figure in the recent murder of Capt. W. N. Lancaster for the death of Haden Clarke, was held here today before James J. Forrester, Labor Department agent.

Forrester, sent here from Washington to take testimony, said a ruling would be announced by the Washington bureau after his return there. The Labor Department claims she entered this country illegally from Nassau in 1931.

Eugenics Parley Calls Rum Poison

More American Children in Asylums Than in Colleges, Is Claim.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Alcohol was assumed to be "race poison," but no stand was taken "for or against prohibition" in the preliminary report to the Third International Congress of Eugenics today by its program committee.

The startling claim that twice as many American families send children to institutions for feeble-mindedness as to universities was made in another section of this congress for human betterment.

That the available methods of human race improvement are still mostly hopes was admitted by the president of the congress, Dr. Charles D. Davenport, who said in his presidential address: "It will be a long time before we can improve on nature's methods of race improvement—a high birth rate and a high death rate."

Capital Photographer Presides at Convention

Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Photographers from almost every State in the Union gathered here today for an international celebration and reunion. The meeting is under the auspices of the International Photographers Association of America.

The two-day program which marks the tenth anniversary of the Daguerre Memorial Institute, the Association School for Photographers, opened this morning with Will Towles, of Washington, D. C., head of the Winona School, presiding. Outstanding speakers include Perie McDonald, New York artist, who will give his first public demonstration in 20 years, Elmer Zuegel and Charles Kaufman, of Chicago; Daniel Staffor, of Chicago, is president of the association.

Philippines to Hasten Legislative Program

Manila, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Theodore Roosevelt, Governor General of the Philippines, who will sail September 14 to participate in the Republican election campaign, was given the assurance of Senator Manuel Quezon and other Filipino leaders today that they would attempt to enact the major items of the legislative program before he leaves.

Quezon, president of the Senate, said he favored adjourning the current legislative session by the middle of October instead of continuing until the scheduled November 10, if such proposals as a balanced budget and government reorganization have been approved.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

PORTRAIT OF MAYOR JIMMY WALKER OF NEW YORK.

I'M starry-eyed and innocent—
A simple, trustful lad
Whose instincts tell him all is good
And nothing ever bad.

Another man might show concern
When things don't look just right
But to my mind most everything
Appears as gleaming white.

There are some minds whch fill with rage
At evidence of vice,
But I believe the world is good
And everybody nice.

Some people keep accounts with care
And see each sheet is filed,
But I just trust to luck, for I'm
As simple as a child.

Some men there are who careful are
Of all their checks, I'm told,
But I can't see the need of that—
It seems too hard and cold!

Corruption, or a hint of it,
Will make some men see red,
But I just hate to credit it
And I see white instead.

There are some men who never can
With hints of evil toy,
But I am slow to credit wrong—
I'm just a country boy!

When evil stories fill the air
Some public minds get hot,
But I'm so full of kindness that Somehow my mind does not.

Some public men are vigilant
In keeping standards high,
But somehow I trust every one—
I really don't know why.

Some folks will read the papers when Accused of wrongs, but I'm
Too busy with a lot of things
To stop and take the time.

If named in headlines, there are men
Who'll read the story through,
And know what's said, but to me it's
The silly thing to do.

At tales of graft and splitting fees
Some men will anger show,
But I remain unmoved because
I can't believe they're so.

Some fellows may resent it when
A witness runs away;
They might attempt to find him but
I'm just not built that way.

I may be wrong about it, but
My conscience is my guide;
If I'm mistaken it's because
I am so starry-eyed.

LAND O' GOSHEN.

THE $60,000 Hambletonian—the Kentucky Derby of the harness horse world — was held in Goshen, N. Y., the other day. We went to see it and found it was just about the treat of the year.

* * * *

The Hambletonian, which it took four heats to settle, was as exciting as any race on the flat, but the charm of the event was that it took spectators back to a forgotten world. It was like lifting the curtain on the era of the buckboard. It was like being taken back to the generation when nearly everybody had a horse and every community had its David Harum.

* * * *

There was in it the element of the medicine show, the county fair, the one-ring circus and the trotting circuit. There was even pink lemonade and the low tent with sandwiches and coffee prepared by the Ladies Aid. There were neckties with horses' heads embroidered on 'em. There was the colored stable hand who called it the "Ham-bone-ian." * * It was grand and glorious. It gave us an irresistible itch to go buy a high-wheeled bicycle and ride around with a blonde on the handlebars. Whoopee!

THE WALKER CASE TREES.

In the biblical reference to Susanna and the elders, Mr. Curtin, Mayor Walker's counsel, brought in the mastic and the yew tree. But it is not a matter of two trees in the mayor's case; it's a case of Sherwood Forest.

POISE IN A PINCH.

An airplane driven by a beginner accidentally landed on top of a truck in New Jersey the other day, much to the truck driver's astonishment. Still, we understand, he had presence of mind enough to demand, "Whatzamattah? No brakes?"

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

EVERY third school in Germany is now equipped with a radio, according to Dr. C. M. Koon, specialist in education by radio at the Federal Office of Education. The German school radio programs now are believed to reach 2,500,000 pupils and 65,000 teachers. School broadcasts last year numbered about 2,000. Music and information about Germany comprised nearly fifty per cent of the educational hours. Seventeen per cent of the time was devoted to instruction in foreign languages.

George Fassnacht, jr., internationally known German actor and singer, will be heard over WRC at 4 o'clock today. Fassnacht is famous for his role as the Christus in the Freiburg Passion Play. This role has been played by a member of the Fassnacht family for five generations, as the equally celebrated Lang family have played it at Oberammergau. Fassnacht will sing Lohengrin's "Farewell" and a number of songs by Schubert and Richard Strauss.

Princess Jue Sue Tai, first Chinese "torch" singer known to Broadway, will be heard in her radio debut when she is introduced by Jay C. Flippen (WMAL, 8 p. m.) as a feature of the "Jay C. Flippencies." The Chinese girl, daughter of a mandarin, will offer songs in both English and her native tongue.

Jay C. Flippen also has an engagement with Bob Taplinger (WMAL, 4 p. m.) for the "Meet the Artist" series.

Commemorating the anniversary of the birth of Claude Debussy, noted modern composer, Cesare Sodero will present a program composed entirely of his works over WRC at 10:15 o'clock tonight. Debussy was born in 1862 and died in 1918.

Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, has selected four romantic melodies for his performance with Nat Shilket's Orchestra in "Music That Satisfies" (WMAL, 9 p. m.). They include "My Silent Love," "Every Time My Heart Beats," "Chloe" and "Waitin' for the Moon."

BECAUSE he remarked during a broadcast that he'd like to have an oyster stew, someone sent Graham McNamee a barrel of oysters. Ben Bernie talked a good deal about horses and a listener actually sent him one. Robert L. Ripley received from South America the shrunken head of an Indian of an ancient tribe that many centuries ago discovered some means of shrinking and embalming the heads of their dead. No larger than a baseball in size, it is in a state of perfect preservation.

Classical music, as well as some of the more famous marches, will be featured by the U. S. Army Band during its concert over WRC at 10:30 a. m. today. Capt. William J. Stannard will direct the band.

Another police dramatization, this time the "Strange Case of Mr. Grimbey," will mark the Lucky Strike Dance Hour (WRC, 9 p. m.).

TUESDAY night and comedy are almost synonymous since Ed Wynn started his Fire Chief program over WRC. With Graham McNamee and Don Voorhees, he will do another "opera" over WRC at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

12,000 Are Expected At Utility Picnic Today

The Relief Assocation of the Washington Railway and Electric Co. and the Potomac Electric Power Co. will hold their annual all-day frolic at Glen Echo Park today. More than 12,000 are expected to attend.

Dance contests and sporting events will be features of the day. The more than 50 amusement features at the park will be open to the visitors. Thirty-five prizes will be awarded. R. D. Voshall will be general chairman in charge.

Ready readers await the offers in Post Classified Ads, the first thing in the morning.

MARBERRY HOLDS TRIBE TO ONE HIT TO WIN, 4 TO 0

Rosenbloom Outpoints Godwin

Light Heavy Champ Given Good Battle by Dixie Lad.

De Beve, Britt, Simpson, Raspi Other Winners.

By DAVE HERMAN.

LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT Champion Maxie Rosenbloom was forced to unravel all his highly touted defense and fistic cunning last night at Twin City Arena in Laurel before subduing Bob Godwin, enterprising young scrapper from Dixie, in a slashing ten-round battle before 1,700 fans from Washington and Baltimore, who greeted the decision with a chorus of boos.

There was no doubt about the decision. It was unanimous. Referee Charlie Short gave Slapsie Maxie the first, the second by a wide margin, the third, fourth, fifth and ninth rounds; favoring the youthful Godwin (who bears a striking resemblance to his cousin, W. L. Stribling), in the sixth, seventh and eighth. The tenth was a draw. Close along the same lines ran the opinion of the judges.

Displaying marvelous footwork and ability to cover up when dangerous punches flew his way, the Hebrew titleholder felt out Godwin in the first and cut loose in the second, when he sent the Southerner to the canvas for a brief count with a right jab to the jaw. Bob's flying leap didn't amount to much. The boy soon gained his stride and waded in with a nifty left.

Godwin Fighting Hard At Finish.

Rosenbloom boxed masterfully in the rounds he won. In the fourth, he wheeled around and caught Godwin with a barrage of rights and lefts to the ears and face. Bobby took plenty of punishment. But Dixie's contribution to the cauliflower industry was not to be denied. In the seventh he opened up, chased the champion around the ring, and unloosed blows with lightning rapidity. Godwin was strong in the next two rounds, as his lethal left worked with telling effect.

Meanwhile, Bosy continued his attack with open gloves, and each time Bob retaliated with stinging lefts. They traded blows fiercely in the tenth, as the crowd roared vociferously. What a fight! What a game boxer this Bob Godwin turned out to be, and a fine exhibition by a challenger.

Fans rose and cheered a popular decision scored by the "Flying" Frenchman, Arthur DeBeve, over Arthur Haverlak, sparring mate from the Rosenbloom stable. An eight-rounder, the bout was spirited from the start, with DeBeve proving himself the aggressor and the better boxer—a battle-scarred veteran who could punch from any angle no matter how he was tied up. DeBeve took it, too, but returned the fire in machine-gun fashion. Once Arthur beat an Indian war dance on the canvas, and tore at Haverlak like a tiger. DeBeve must hve won five of the rounds. The demonstration accorded him was as great as any seen at Twin City this season.

Sammy Britt won a six-round decision from K. O. Burns, of Baltimore, in a fight which produced cat caws at the finish. Jackie Simpson, of Jacksonville, Fla., a youngster, whipped Joe Raspi in four rounds, and Young Raspi turned back Young Doty, batting for Sammy Hogan, in the opening four-rounder.

Rosenbloom and Godwin, it was announced, will fight again, with Charlotte, N. C., as the scene and August 30 as the date.

Playground Meet Today Attracts 2,200 Athletes

Stars of 52 Grounds Vie for Post Cup at Central.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

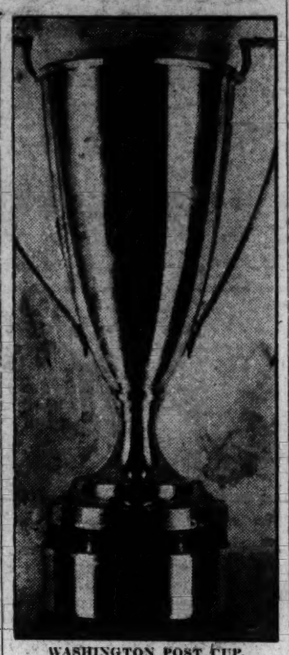
THE District Playground Department's tenth annual trackmeet—one of the most unique sporting events ever held in Washington—will be run off beginning at 10 o'clock this morning at Central Stadium with close to 2,200 boys competing in 20 scheduled events.

Individual glory all but evaporates today in face of team competition, with 52 separate playgrounds fighting it out for possession of The Washington Post trophy.

With District Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer and other ranking dignitaries in the stands the gigantic sports program will be sent under way by an exact replica of the opening scenes of an Olympiad. The youths will file into the stadium dressed in track suits with identifying banners in the lead and will circle the track in review, forming into a great design in the middle of the field where the band from the National Training School will aid in the rendition of the "Star-Spangled Banner" and the famed Olympic oath will be taken by the entire competitive force.

The assault on existing track and field records begins promptly after the finish of the opening ceremonies. The role of defending champion will be played by the Rosedale delegation, which under the guidance of Ben Kail, well-known local sports official, has won The Post Cup twice in succession and once more has a promising raft of youngsters ranging from kids as big as a half a minute to lads who could dump Jim Londos in the customary 32 minutes.

Johnson-Powell finished second last year, nosed out by Rosedale in the last thrilling few minutes of the meet by two scrappy little Rosedale relay teams, one of them the 70-pound quartet and the other the 100 pounders. Columbia Road, since become a colored grounds, finished third.



WASHINGTON POST CUP.

But as a whole the field is wide open this year, with greater balance than has blessed it in the past half decade. It would take an ambitious prognosticator to pick today's winner.

U. S. Doubles Net Upset Recorded

Feibleman-Hess Defeat Oliff-Avory in Five Sets.

Other Choices Score as 16 Teams Are Eliminated.

By BILL KING.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22 (A. P.).—The lambs were fed to the lions in the opening round of the fifty-first annual national doubles tennis championship today at Longwood, and it was one of the dullest spectacles of the current season.

The entry list was amazing, containing nine of the world's best ten players, a handful of near-greats and a whole flock of unknowns. Almost half of the 32 teams would have found trouble in a minor tourney, but they advanced to the slaughter gamely.

Only One Match Close.

Only one of the sixteen opening matches was tight enough to be interesting, but in that play E. W. Feibleman, of New York, and Jake Hess, of Fort Worth, Tex., did not surprise many by eliminating the fourth and last seeded foreign entry, John S. Oliff and Ted Avory, of England, in a five-setter, 6—4, 6—4, 4—6, 3—6, 6—1.

France's great Henri Cochet, missing from the national team play since 1928, teamed with his countryman, Marcel Bernard, 18-year-old southpaw, to uphold their seeded prestige by eliminating R. R. and R. B. Thurber, of Salem, with the fewest possible strokes, 6—1, 6—1, 6—0.

Most of the other favorites floundered about considerably. They had an opportunity to practice against weak competition and took advantage of such rare fortune. The defending champions, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, won in straight sets over the Boston veterans, G. Colbert Ganer and Henry R. Guild, the tournament's referee, 9—7, 6—3, 6—3, and the second seeded Americans, Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, were forced to go an extra set to advance on a 6—3, 4—6, 6—3, 8—6 decision over Robert ("Lefty") Bryan, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, Tex.

Austin-Perry Team Triumphs.

The top-seeded foreign pair, Henry W. ("Bunny") Austin and Frederick J. Perry, of England, made short work of H. E. and E. J. Fuller, Salem, Mass., 6—4, 6—2, 6—0, and the other invading set, Jiro Satoh and Takeo Kuwabara, of Japan, passed into the second round by a default.

Last year's defeated finalists, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkley Bell, New York, eliminated the gray-beards, Armand Bruneau and E. W. Burns, of New York, 6—1, 6—0, 6—4, giving the victims a chance to divert all of their attention to the veterans' doubles, which will open tomorrow.

Three Others Walk But None Pass First Base.

Marberry Also Gets Two Hits; Cronin Drives in Three.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

FRED MARBERRY has pitched many a good game for the Nationals, but he was credited with his best at Griffith Stadium yesterday when he held the slugging Cleveland Indians to a solitary single while his mates nelped him to a 4-to-0 shutout. Usually in these near no-hit efforts, the fans are held in suspense as the game progresses, waiting for the spell to be broken, but it was different yesterday. Dick Porter, opening the game, shot a semiliner to left which was good for one base, and it was then that Marberry settled to the task of mowing down all the rest of the Indians as fast as they showed up at the tee.

Porter immediately fell a double-play victim on Burnett's roller to Kerr, and the Indians were retired in one-two-three order until the fifth, when Vosmik drew a pass. He was franked again with two men down in the seventh, and only one other visitor saw base-life, Kamm watching four balls pass him in the eighth.

No Indians Pass First Base.

Except for Porter's safety, the Tribe never even came close to solving Marberry's offerings, unless it was in the ninth, when Reynolds had to do some hustling to grab Burnett's looper. In the sixth, he retired the side on five pitched balls, and he repeated in the ninth. Of the four alien base runners, none advanced past first, not even Vosmik, who drew his first pass opening the fifth round. Marberry fanned two.

And while the big Texan was making monkeys of the Clevelanders, the Nats were doing a little timely hitting at the expense of Willis Hudlin. He hurled a fair game, allowing only ten hits, but the natives bunched seven of these in three different frames to get runners over the plate. Hudlin gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Ralph Winegarner, a converted infielder from Toledo, finished out the string.

Not only did Marberry pitch as he has never done before, but he also helped along his cause by cracking out two singles, one of which was used for run-scoring purposes. Kuhel cracked out three safeties, with Manush and Cronin getting two each, the latter driving home three of the Nats' four runs.

Nats Start to Work In Opener.

Kuhel opened the game for the Nats with a single and stole second as Bluege fanned. Manush then singled him past the check-in station. Two were out in the third when the natives scored again, Manush and Cronin doubling in rapid succession. Hudlin then mastered the home crew until the "lucky" frame, when the residents doubled their total.

With one dead in the seventh, Marberry singled and took third on Kuhel's double. Both runners held their bases while Kamm was tossing out Bluege. Manush was intentionally walked, filling the bases and then up stepped Cronin with a liner-single to right which cleared the runways.

Yesterday's triumph put the Nats two and a half games behind their third-place rivals, evened the series count at 2-all and the season's score at 9 to 9.

In the Wake Of the Game

PECKINPAUGH'S Indians end their 1932 season here this afternoon in a game which not only carries with it the series edge but also will break a deadlock in season's meetings between the two teams and the Nationals are most hopeful of copping. The two outfits are now racing neck and neck for the third-place part of the world's series purse and a ding-dong battle may be looked for. "General" Al Crowder will do the flinging for the residents with Mel Harder getting the call from Skipper Roger Peckinpaugh.

Pitcher Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas gave his ailing salary wing a test before yesterday's game with no untoward results. He plans to put on a little more steam today and tomorrow and, if no harm is done, probably will draw an assignment in the coming set with the Tigers.

President Clark Griffith has changed his mind about exercising his option on Pitcher Walter Masters, former Pennsylvania U. star, and will leave him with the Youngstown Club.

Johnny Kerr played second yesterday, Buddy Myer reporting before the game that a bruised right hip received in Sunday's contest had stiffened up overnight.

Hudlin's first three offerings to Bluege in the first were balls and then the batter fanned.

Hudlin kicked strenuously over a called strike on Cronin in the fifth and, when he made more comments to Umpire Van Grafian leaving the field, he was within about two words of being put out of the game.

Hudlin walked Manush intentionally to fill the bases in the seventh, this being the only pass he issued.

Grove Poles Homer As White Sox Bow

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Robert Moses Grove slammed a homer and a single to account for four runs and added a masterful exhibition of hurling today to give the Athletics an 8-to-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox and chalk up his nineteenth win of the season.

71 CARD TOPS IN WEST'S GOLF

Eichelberger Leads First Medal Round by a Stroke.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Happy Eichelberger, who tossed away his football togs for a set of golf clubs at Stanford, hauled out some magic pinch shots today to beat a record field in the first eighteen-hole struggle for the Western amateur medal.

The rangy Stanford senior toured the championship Rockford Country Club course in 70 shots, the only subpar performance of the day, which saw such brilliant assault that it looked like 150 shots would be the high deadline to land in the match play bracket of 32 Wednesday.

Medalist's Margin Small.

Eichelberger's margin in the medalist fight was too close for comfort, however, as a pair of noted Chicagoans, Johnny Lehman and George Dawson, was right behind with par 71s, while a large brigade came charging in with 72s.

Eichelberger had his share of trouble over the rolling fairways, but his pitch shots saved him. He went out in par 36 despite a topped third shot on the first hole and a miserably topped tee shot on the ninth. He reeled off eight pars coming home in 34. His score wasn't unexpected as he was second low in the national amateur qualifying round this year with 75—67—142.

Lehman, 1930 champion, had a pair of deuces on his card, finishing with the smartest backward nine of the day, a 33, but he took a 38 for the first nine.

Don Moe, of Portland, Oreg., defending titleholder, was not required to fight today and tomorrow. Charles "Chick" Evans, jr., of Chicago, eight times holder of the crown, still had a fight on his hands to stay in as he took a 75. Moe shot a 74 in practice to keep in shape, however.

MARANVILLE NEAR 40.

Rabbit Maranville, sprightly infielder of the Boston Braves, will be 40 in November.

SHIKAT TOPS MAT CARD TONIGHT

Ex-Champ Takes on McArthur in Bolling Feature.

JACK McARTHUR, a fat-reformed football player, will be tossed in the Bolling Field wrestling ring tonight with one of the greatest grapplers in circulation, Richard Shikat, who probably will toss him in jig time and stalk away from the airport dusting his hands off in a sort of "Well, that's that" attitude.

McArthur has not been wrestling long; Shikat has been at it since before the World War, in which he served in the German Navy. McArthur used to play for St. Mary's, out on the Coast, and Red Grange's crew of professionals.

Glenn Munn, big baby brother of Wayne and Monte Munn, meets the Masked "Marvel" in the semifinal. The promoters have prevailed upon the "Marvel," by sign language, to remove his W. T. Benda cast if he loses tonight.

If any local subscribers to wrestling are remotely interested in viewing this warrior directly in the bare face, tonight will be about the best time to do so, for Munn seems to be one of the best of the young men in this circuit, and there is little doubt that the masked one is the worst.

In other bouts Mike Romano meets Babe Caddock; Mike Mazurki entangles with Bill Middlekauf and George Manich plays around with Oscar Negren.

Shikat stands out on this card like the manager of the Singer midgets. Strong as a bull, as scientific as the Bureau of Standards and as heady as champagne, the one drawback this really great wrestler has is that he is as colorless as a glass of water, else there is little doubt that he would be champion.

4 YANK HITS YIELDED BY HADLEY

Goslin Hits Home Run as Browns Cop 5-1 Verdict.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Irving (Bump) Hadley, St. Louis Brown right-hander, set the slugging Yankees down, 5 to 1, on four scattered hits today and but for a bad break would have gained the distinction of being the first pitcher to shut out the leaders this year.

Earl Combs opened the game with a smash to center that got away from Schulte and rolled for a triple, a moment later to score on Joe Sewell's infield out. But for that, Hadley had the McCarthymen stopped as cold as an Eskimo's nose.

In the last eight frames the Yanks collected only three hits, all of them by Ben Chapman, and seven went down swinging at Hadley's curves. Hadley issued eight passes, but they did him no damage. Babe Ruth struck out three times.

While Hadley was thus taming the locals, Deacon Danny MacFayden was having his troubles. The bespectacled star gave up eleven hits, every man in the St. Louis line-up hitting safely, and Goose Goslin punching a home run.

THIRD IN ROW FOR CUBS AS PHILS BOW

Lead by Three Games as Robins Idle; Rhem Pounded.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs increased their lead over Brooklyn in the National League championship race to three games by winning their third straight over Philadelphia today, 8 to 4.

The Cubs hammered Flint Rhem and John Berley for thirteen hits, and were further aided by some ragged fielding on the part of the Phillies. Bud Tinning started for the Cubs and gained credit for his fourth victory, although Burleigh Grimes relieved him when the Phils threatened in the eighth.

BROWN WISDOM SURPRISES IN FEATURE AT HAWTHORNE

Sweet Scent, Choice, Is Second

Reichert Brothers Star Wins by Five Lengths at 6-1.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Ill., Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Brown Wisdom, from the Reichert Bros.' Stables, scored another triumph today at Hawthorne, leading a field of good platers from start to finish in the Knollwood Purse.

The result was a big shock to form players, who went to the Coldstream's 4-year-old filly, Sweet Scent, in a big way. Sweet Scent, however, behaved badly at the post, lunging out of the gate eight times before the field could be sent away. She ran sluggishly during the early part of the 6½ furlongs, but Melvin Lewis managed to shake her up and finish second.

Brown Wisdom, with C. E. Allen doing the riding, finished with a margin of five lengths over Sweet Scent, with Sweep All third. The victor paid $14.98 to win and ran the distance in 1:16 3-5.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

With a profit of $221.00 that he made on his secret system to date, Joe starts taking flyers daily now because he can't stand watching Asbestos make piker bets. Asbestos' bank roll is $32.01 and let's watch them today.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 22.

There was a time when I sent you the winner of the first race with utmost regularity. Now of late it has been the eighth race. ULTRAMARINE, with a $14 mutuel, saved us today.

It is getting harder day by day in every way to tell in advance what these gee gees are going to do. The starting has been poor and the dope bucket upset with a regularity that is getting monotonous, to say the least.

Cloudy here tonight, so may have mud to contend with tomorrow. Take a tip, pal, and go slow. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—FLIRTING, because she has the rail and is a quick breaker. Might add she loves to stop and if headed probably will be beaten by LOVELY HILLS. Take BABEE for third.

SECOND RACE—A bad lot goes here. CRIMEAN LAD should get home. KLIP DRIFT and BAD MINTON for what's left.

THIRD RACE—JOHN MILL was a good thing the other day and just failed to last. May go the route tomorrow. GUIDE RIGHT and BAY LEAF are outsiders with a chance.

FOURTH RACE—Here's one for the end book. There's no rhyme or reason to it. I am going to try and root BLACK STRAP home. TRY AND AGAIN, a hindoo in Canada, may cause a lot of trouble and should lead MISS CRINNE to the wire. The unreliable VISHNU is liable to spill all the beans.

FIFTH RACE—LITTLE AMERICA will be odds-on choice and should gallop. BONNY MAUREEN and SUNIDAY for what's left.

SIXTH RACE—VILLAGE VAMP defeated EASY the last time they met, but there's 6 pounds difference in weights today. Fisher has ridden both horses in their winning races and might be a good idea to string with his mount tomorrow. KNEEHIGH is very consistent and may show. THUNDERSTONE craves mud.

SEVENTH RACE—Going to give JODHPHUR and Jockey J. Smith one more chance. LADY GIBSON and CHUM for place and show.

EIGHTH RACE—If ANITA ORMONT is ever to win again, tomorrow should be the day. MONEY MUSK and WRIGLEY FIELD will be battling it out down the home stretch.

Steele to Show Here Against Grobmeier

Ray Steele, burly runner-up in the constant rassling tournament being conducted by hefties of the London-White combination, comes back to Washington Thursday night after an absence of nearly a year and with a new halo around his scrambled ears.

Ray threw Londos a month ago on the Pacific Coast, was himself thrown and then held Jim to a draw in the third session of their two-out-of-three match. He meets Fred Grobmeier here Thursday. The semifinal matches up Rudy Dusek and rubber-boned Berto Asserati. The other bouts bring together Herman Hickman and Lou Plummer, Pat O'Shocker and Frank Brunowicz and Son Jennings and John Maxos.

Sponging of Panetian Probed by Spa Police

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 22 (U.P.).—Saratoga police and Pinkerton detectives tonight investigated another "sponging" scandal which developed today when C. Leroy King's sprinter, Panetian, was withdrawn from the Burgomaster Handicap because he had been tampered with.

Two colored stable hands connected with the King establishment and two white men who have been under suspicion for similar activities were questioned.

Panetian, heavy favorite in a three-horse handicap, was discovered acting strangely. A sponge had been inserted in his nostrils. The lock on his stall door had been broken during the night.

No action was taken against the stable despite the precedent set last year when Harry F. Sinclair's Ladana was poisoned by unknown persons. Sinclair's stable was held accountable for not safeguarding its horses and further entries were refused during the meeting.

ROBERTS WINS TOURNEY.

Bill Roberts, former Maryland University varsity netman, won the singles championship of the Chiselers Club yesterday by beating George Considine, 8—6, 6—1. Considine led, 4—2, in the first set, but could not maintain the pace he had set.

Stocks Break Through Top Levels of Summer Upturn

One to Five Points Swell Gains in Turnover of 3,165,088 Shares.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The stock market crashed through its upper resistance levels of the past fortnight to new high ground for the summer recovery today.

In a flurry of buying, which severely squeezed the shorts in the last hour, many issues scored net gains of 1 to 5 points, while a few got up 5 to nearly 10 points. On the turnover of 3,165,088 shares, substantially more than a million shares were traded in the last hour.

While a number of the leading issues failed to better their previous peak levels of the recovery materially, Union Pacific shot up 9¾ points in the last hour, going well into new high ground for the move. Net advances of 4 to 6 points appeared in such issues as American Can, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Auburn, Delaware & Hudson, Illinois Central and U. S. Steel preferred. U. S. Steel common came within ⅛ of getting up 4 points, Youngstown Sheet & Tube gained as much, and Republic and Bethlehem Steel issues were strong. A number of preferred stocks made wide gains. Advances of 1 to 2 points appeared virtually throughout the list.

Steels were helped by the weekly survey of the publication, Steel, placing ingot output at 15 to 16 per cent of capacity, up 1 point, and by reports of substantial purchases of scrap metal by important steel producers.

Wall street was more favorably influenced than otherwise by publication of the list of the Reconstruction Corporation loans during the last ten days of July, showing few large banks among the borrowers, presumably indicating that the need for funds had shrunken considerably, and a relatively moderate volume of loans, in the agregate.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—Trading on the stock exchange started irregularly. Gold mine shares were the most active and there was speculative buying of Argentine rails. Transatlantic issues were steady while others were easy. Dildedged securities were easy. Weakness in sterling exchange. The closing was undecided.

PARIS—The bourse showed heaviness from the opening with buyers holding aloof. Rentes gained small fractions while bank shares sagged and international issues were freely offered. The closing tone was heavy.

BERLIN—Prices declined slightly in an extremely dull market but recovered partially at the close.

CURB PRICES CLIMB IN HEAVIER TRADING

One to Five Points Added in 320,000-Share Sales; Utilities in Lead.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—After a slow start, buying enthusiasm quickly spread throughout the curb market today, and in turnover of 320,000 shares, against 250,000 last Friday, stocks advanced vigorously. There were numerous gains of 1 to 5 or 6 points.

The public utility list enjoyed special popularity. Led by Electric Bond & Share, which gained 2⅞ points, to 25⅜, a number of the more active issues ran up 2 to over 4 points. These included American Gas & Electric, American Light & Traction and a number of preferred stocks.

The publication today of National Power & Light Co.'s twelve-month earnings for the period ended last June 30 attracted considerable buying to that company's 6 per cent preferred. The stock ran up 6⅛ points to a new 1932 high at 73.

In the industrial group, Aluminum Co., Deere & Co., the Ford issues, Newmont Mining and A. O. Smith were firm, the latter advancing 6¾ points. Singer Manufacturing was an exception, reacting 2 points on small trading. The oils were steady.

Oil Reincorporation Planned.

Wichita, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—A proposal for the dissolution of the Standard Oil Co. (Kansas) and reincorporation in Delaware under the name of the Standard Oil Co. of Kansas is proposed in a letter mailed to stockholders today by C. B. Wrightsman, president of the concern.

Attorneys Denied $1,000,000 In Steel-Tube Merger Bar

Jefferson, Ohio, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Attorneys for Cyrus S. Eaton today suffered their second setback in their fight to win $1,000,000 in legal fees incurred in their successful battle to block the proposed merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

The Seventh Ohio District Court of Appeals upheld a special commissioner's finding that the antimerger attorneys were not entitled to compensation from Sheet & Tube, and ruled that the merger, which since has been dropped, was legal.

The court also assessed the costs of the present action, amounting to $8,056.55, against the Eaton attorneys.

STOCK UPTURN SEEN AS LOGICAL RESULT

Credit Men Now Fear Only Too Much Speed, Not Amount of Gains.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Members of the Washington Association of Credit Men have been informed by Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the national body, that the recent stock market rise is logical, warranted and extremely modest and that the only danger at present lies in the speed with which the recovery is effected and not in the extent of the recovery of the stock prices.

"Although the rise has been most pronounced and has had a helpful influence toward rebuilding confidence," he states in part, "present quotations fall far short of reflecting intrinsic value, assuming even a modest business recovery. In 1929, there was a lack of realization of the capitalization of future earnings. Early in 1932, there was an unparalleled pessimistic discounting of any hope of recovery. The stock market could double its present average prices and not go far amiss in bringing a development of values that more nearly reflected investments.

"The only danger at present lies not in the extent of the recovery in stock prices, but in the speed with which the recovery is effected. Fundamentally, business conditions would not warrant the recent recovery had stock prices at their low level reflected capital investments. It is by reason of the fact that at their deflated prices they did not begin to reflect our investment in industry that so rapid a rise was possible.

"The traditional lesson from our experience during the past three years is that when confidence is at low ebb or optimism unbridled the stock market does not reflect true values."

Stone Orders Mount.

Chicago, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The Indiana Limestone Co. reported today that unfilled orders were 70 per cent greater than at this time last year, with prospects for the remainder of 1932 favorable. Unfilled orders totaled 1,791,582 cubic feet, compared with 1,096,612 a year ago.

WHEAT VALUES RISE IN FIRMER MARKETS

Corn Is Steady but Lower; Oats and Provisions in Upward Trend.

Chicago, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Grains drifted leisurely today as traders strove to plot a course through the heavy seas "kicked up" by the imperial trade conference at Ottawa Saturday. Announcement that Great Britain had agreed to place a duty of 6 cents a bushel on all imported wheat, except that grown by British colonies, brought trade in Chicago almost to a standstill.

Prices showed a little strength at the outset, but operations were limited and fluctuations narrow.

Wheat closed fairly strong, ⅜ to ¾ cent higher than Saturday's finish; corn, steady to ⅛ lower, oats ⅛@¼ higher, and provisions mixed, 3 cents lower to 5 cents higher.

Sentiment here was predominantly bearish, but the market resisted selling on the declines. Liverpool closed slightly lower, traders there being more inclined to heed the small world's shipments of 6,286,000 bushels and the small supplies afloat than were United States operators. Supplies afloat showed a decrease of 952,000 bushels last week and are now 23,552,000 bushels, compared with 54,504,000 last week and 47,872,000 a year ago.

Russian advices were favorable. A report dated August 10 said that only 111,000,000 acres of small grains had been cut as compared to 141,000,000 acres on that date in 1931. Export business in United States hard winter wheat was limited although a fair amount of Canadian wheat was reported worked.

Corn prices held within a moderate range. Some liquidation appeared in the September delivery early, but trade was generally small. Oats were lightly traded.

Provisions were quiet.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Another postponement of the auction of Middle West Utilities common stock held by the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. and the Guaranty Trust Co. as collateral for loans to the Insull Utilities Investment, Inc., and Corporation Securities Co., was ordered today until August 24.

Public offering of an issue of Pennsylvania Electric Co. first and refunding mortgage bonds, series "H," due 1962, was announced today by a group, including Chase-Harris-Forbes Corporation, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and the N. W. Harris Co., Inc., at 83 and interest to yield 6.25 per cent.

Wall street hears that the Fajardo Sugar Co. closed its fiscal year on July 31 with the best earnings since 1927, approximating between $9 and $10 a share on the common stock. In the previous year the company earned $3.49 a share. The company, one of the leading Porto Rican cane sugar producers, is said to have had a record production of 111,333 tons in the 1931-32 harvesting season.

The First National Bank of New York has transferred $25,000,000 to its reserve account from surplus. The action increased the bank's reserves to about $30,000,000 and reduced its surplus and undivided profits to $85,000,000.

Cash assets of $17.50 a share, or more, will be available for the outstanding stock of the Standard Oil Co. of Kansas if the present plan to sell its pipe lines and refinery to the Standard of Indiana goes through, said C. I. Wrightsman, president of the Kansas company.

COTTON AGAIN LEAPS TO NEW HIGH GROUND

December Sells at 7.86 in 14-to-20-Point Upturn; Liverpool Buys.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Cotton prices made new high ground for the movement today on trade and commission house buying and covering stimulated by strength in the stock market and unfavorable private crop advices.

December contracts sold up to 7.88 or 6 points above the high of last week, and closed at 7.86. The general market closed steady at net advances of 14 to 20 points.

October sold up to 7.72 and March to 8.11, making net advances of about 17 to 23 points on the general list, and closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the best.

The advance was attributed partly to buying on expectations that the September 1 crop indication would show a reduction, as compared with the August 1 figures, but more largely, perhaps, to the strength in the stock market, which encouraged optimistic views of the general business outlook.

There was some buying believed to be for foreign and domestic trade account, while brokers with cooperative connections were credited with selling October and buying May.

Liverpool cables reported general buying and covering in that market. Exports today 7,593, making 290,500 so far this season.

RAIL-BOND ADVANCE LEADS LARGER GAINS

Upward Trend Continues in Cheerful Dealing; Sales Total $17,043,000.

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Low-priced railroad bonds soared today and all other domestic categories followed the upward flight with a greater or lesser degree of buoyancy.

While sales totaled only $17,043,000, par value, considerably under the high aggregate of August 11, the average for 60 corporate loans advanced 1.6 points, equaling the best day's gain of the year. The average for 20 principal carriers showed a gain of 3 points, the greatest for any day of 1932.

Most of the more speculative rails advanced from 1 to 6 or more points and heavy trading in a few of these accounted for a large part of the day's aggregate. The largest sales were recorded by issues of Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Allegheny Corporation, Nickel Plate and Frisco.

The day's upturn was not attributed to any special news developments. The railroads apparently took renewed hope from the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval last week of a big loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the Baltimore & Ohio and the belief that there will be no major receiverships this year.

The United States Government section was quiet and steady and some firmness was shown by a number of foreign obligations, including those of Canada, Chile, Australia, Denmark, Germany and Japan. The Argentines suffered a reaction of from 1 to 3 points.

ROCKVILLE WOMEN ROW OVER MARKET

Blanche Corwin, Deposed Agent, and Factions Hold Separate Meetings.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Rockville was full of meetings yesterday. The town had a crowd around the courthouse that looked like election times. At least, the arguments were just as vociferous and heated.

First, there was a meeting called by Miss Blanche Corwin, deposed home demonstration agent, of sellers of the Farm Women's Market, Inc., of Montgomery County. After a heated debate on the right of Miss Corwin to call the meeting, part of the group left and moved over to the courthouse, where an indignation meeting was scheduled. The remaining group elected Miss Corwin manager of the farm market and announced that business would be carried on as usual in the market tomorrow.

All of the farm women then moved over to the courthouse, where the demonstration office was packed so tight with several hundred spectators that the audience overflowed into the hall. Here a number of persons addressed the meeting, and Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the extension service of the University of Maryland, presided.

Dr. Symons steadfastly held that Miss Corwin had been removed because of insubordination, and that the extension service favors the farm market but not the Bachrach site or the going into debt by the farm women to purchase a site and erect a farm market.

Following the conference, Dr. Symons announced that the extension service will continue to cooperate with the farm women, through Miss Edith M. Turner, who has been sent to take the place of Miss Corwin as county home demonstration agent. He said that a plan for operation of the market, which is expected to bring together the warring factions, will be announced next week.

He said that Miss Corwin had been called into conference with Miss Venia McKellar, State home demonstration agent, and himself, and that he later had sent her a letter requesting deferment of action until full investigation could be made. "She failed to follow these instructions, and it was evident at the meeting that she was not in sympathy with the administration of the service, nor inclined to accept its advice," Dr. Symons said. He said also that the extension service is sympathetic with the movement, and plans to aid in every way possible, but that the nature of extension work "places a limit beyond which its agents can not go in promoting business organizations."

Four directors were elected at the Corwin meeting after the anti-Corwin group left the meeting. They are Mrs. A. A. Potter, Mrs. Lee Iglehart, Mrs. Beulah Nill and Mrs. John W. Darby. Miss Corwin was elected manager, but the matter of salary was left until a later date.

Present indications point to a split in the organization and possible setting up of two farm markets, one for each faction, although the extension service plans to do everything possible to draw the opposing forces together.

British Banker's Visit Mystifies Wall Street

New York, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—Much speculation has been set in motion in banking circles over the present visit of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, to this country. That dignitary, adhering closely to his policy of silence, however, permits Wall street to draw any conclusion it cares to concerning the purpose of his trip.

Bankers are said to be both surprised and mystified over his visit, and in the absence of any specific or authentic information from Mr. Norman or United States Treasury or Federal Reserve authorities, there is a good deal of guessing regarding the mission or missions which brought him here.

CABIN JOHN DEPOSES FIRE CHIEF SULLIVAN

Trial Board Finds Him Guilty on Eight Counts; Refused to Attend Hearing.

Fire Chief Thomas W. Sullivan of the Cabin John Park Volunteer Fire Department last night was deposed as chief and his name stricken from the rolls of the department. The action was taken by the trial board of the department after a trial which the chief refused to attend. Assistant Chief James A. Graham is acting chief pending selection of Sullivan's successor.

The trial board found Chief Sullivan guilty on eight counts and dismissed the ninth for lack of evidence. The charges on which he was found guilty were: Lantern missing, two fishlights broken on truck and failure to keep all equipment on truck in accordance with instructions in letter to chief of April 4, 1932; hoes not changed on truck as per instructions; making false report in connection with equipment of Charles Spong, jr., a member; failure to take proper care of Truck No. 2; maintaining officers and mechanics who fail to do their duty; failure to hang and dry out hose after fires, drill and hook-up contests; failure to suspend members violating house rules of which the chief was aware and failure to make reports at meetings of matters important to the department with exception of fires. The charge dismissed was failure to report suspension of C. E. Sullivan, jr., who since has attended a meeting.

Members of the trial board were David S. Tuohey, chairman; Berlin G. Brann and I. P. Marshall. Three witnesses were heard. Chief Sullivan refused to attend the trial because he had been informed he would not be permitted to bring counsel and a public stenographer. He said, further, he understood that his accusers would not face him at the trial, but this was denied by the trial board.

The deposed chief had notified the board of directors that he would not appear and had asked a ruling by the board on the order that barred his counsel from the trial. He is allowed five days in which to appeal the decision to the board of directors. Members of the board are: W. B. Patzer, chairman; David S. Tuohey, J. H. Bodine, H. C. Magruder, J. C. Church and Francis Day. The board preferred the charges, but its members did not testify at the trial.

ALEXANDRIA SCHOOL TERM BEGINS SEPT. 8

Sectarian Institutions Also Announce Opening Dates for Next Session.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Alexandria public schools will reopen for studies September 8, when all pupils will report and be assigned to classes, and given a list of books to be used the coming session.

The principals of the various schools will be at the offices of their respective schools September 1, and a meeting of the white teachers will be held September 7 at 10 a. m., in the auditorium of the Alexandria High School. Superintendent of Schools R. C. Bowton will issue instructions. A meeting of the colored teachers will be held at 2 o'clock that afternoon, in Parker-Gray School.

Total enrollment last session was 4,909 pupils and indications are that the coming session will exceed that number.

St. Mary's Academy, conducted by the Sisters of The Holy Cross, will reopen September 13.

The Xaverian Brothers and St. Mary's Parochial Schools will announce their opening dates shortly.

The Episcopal High School will reopen September 19; the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia, September 20, and St. Agnes Episcopay School, September 21.

Dr. W. E. Beattie, Alexandria city coroner, following an inquest yesterday, announced Marian Louise Dodd, 5 years old, came to her death as the result of an unavoidable accident. Sylvester Daugert, driver of the automobile that struck the child Sunday, was released.

Daugert, driving an Army truck of the First Tank Regiment, Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, said the child ran in front of his truck and he turned the truck from the road, and also applied the brakes, but the child was too close to avoid hitting her. Witnesses were William Darley, E. L. Simpson, Otis Dodson, George Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd, the parents of the child, and Policeman Charles Curtis.

The accident occurred shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday in the 500 block South Patrick street, and the child died fifteen minutes later in the Alexandria Hospital as the result of a fracture at the base of the skull.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the home of the parents, 1013 Gibbon street, and burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Roy S. Braden, county manager of Arlington County, will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Alexandria Rotary Club today at the George Mason Hotel.

James Armstrong will be the weekly chronicler. This is a new feature being inaugurated by the club. Each week a different member will act as chronicler. A special committee will be announced to handle the arrangements for the ladies' buffet supper September 27. On this occasion, His Excellency Sesostris Pasha, Egyptian Minister to the United States, will be the principal speaker. He will be accompanied by his wife.

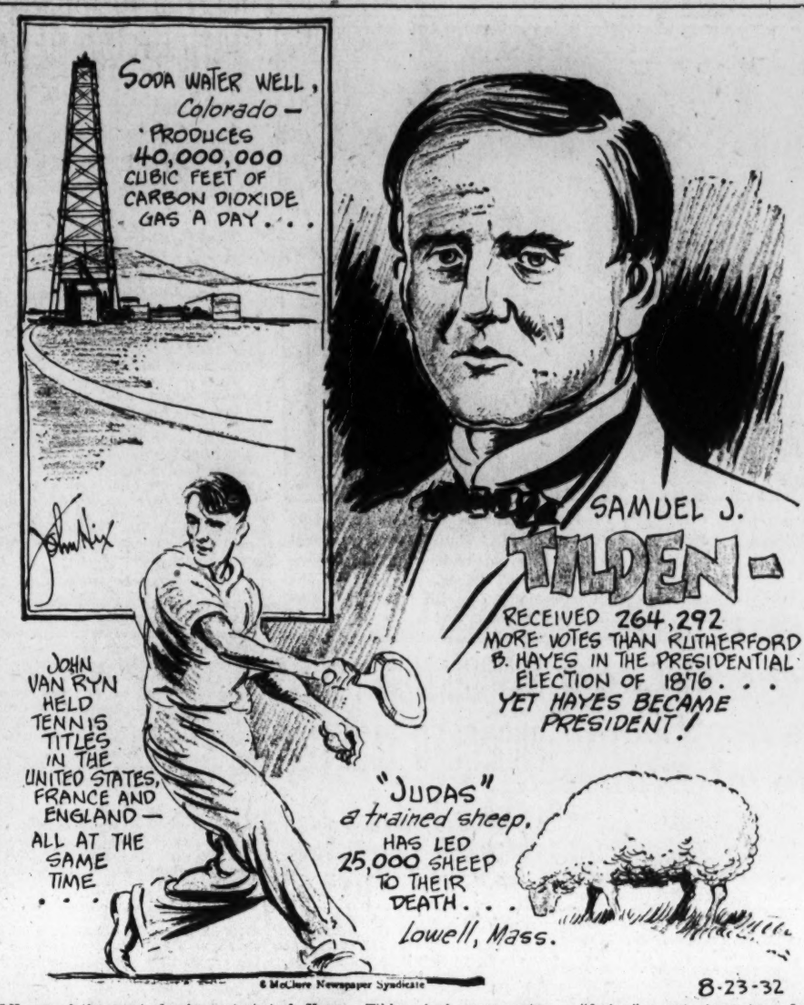
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



IN one of the most closely contested presidential elections this Nation has ever known, the returns on the election of 1876—after a special commission had determined disputed counts from four States—gave Rutherford B. Hayes office in spite of the fact that Samuel J. Tilden, his Democratic opponent, polled 264,292 more votes. The former won, on the face of electoral college votes, by 185 against 184.

Four States sent in double sets of returns, but even after these contested votes had been decided in favor of Hayes, Tilden had more votes. The count of popular votes, as recognized now by historians, was: Hayes, 4,036,298; Tilden, 4,300,590.

FAMILY AID CUT DUE TO MAKE FUND LAST

Special Relief Group Fears $350,000 to Be Gone Before December.

The special employment relief organization will have to reduce the amount of relief to each family before winter to make the $350,000 fund last until Congress reconvenes in December, Leroy A. Halbert, director, revealed yesterday in reporting the progress of his work for the first three weeks to the Board of Public Welfare.

As District authorities believe that Congress intended that the fund should not expire before that time, they intend to make it last by "spreading it thin," Mr. Halbert said, if this becomes necessary. Even now, however, only 35 cents an hour is being paid workers, whether they be of the white collar or the laboring class.

Up until yesterday some sort of relief has been provided 2,150 applicants, Mr. Halbert reported, but 1,309 of these are cases turned over to the special relief organization by reputable charitable agencies. Some 350 applicants have been rejected, and 8,500 have not yet been investigated.

$24,129.35 Expended.

Altogether there have been a total of 6,000 applications or an average of between 200 and 300 every day the relief headquarters at the old Metropolitan Methodist Church has been open.

During the three weeks since the fund began being distributed $24,129.35 has been spent, of which $2,045.22 was for administration work. Each week the amount of money dispensed has increased. Last week approximately $12,000 was spent, and indications are that each week the amount distributed will increase considerably until a limit is imposed.

Volunteer Workers.

Mr. Halbert made another appeal through the press for volunteer workers who have had social welfare experience. He now has ten such volunteers, he said, and they are greatly expediting the work of checking on cases.

While no estimate for additional special relief is included in the 1934 District budget, Mr. Halbert said that it was his impression that the commissioners expected that Congress will voluntarily make more money available when it reconvenes.

At the present time Mr. Halbert said he was unable to estimate how much longer the organization will be able to continue on the present basis. When the cut becomes necessary, however, it will be made all along the line rather than a discharge for a certain number of persons.

15,000 Visitors Come Here for Air Events

The air derby, which started Sunday from the Washington-Hoover Airport, is credited with having drawn 15,000 additional visitors to the Capital over the week-end, according to reports made yesterday by the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

One railroad brought in 4,500 passengers from West Virginia. The air derby was extensively publicized in advance by railroads within a radius of 200 miles of Washington. An increase of 37 per cent over normal was noted in hotel reservations for the week ended Sunday.

C. & P. BUILDINGS OFF 7 PER CENT, IS CLAIM

Depreciation Expert Appears at Utilities Commission Hearing on Rates.

Evidence that the buildings of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. have depreciated only 7.7 per cent on a reproduction cost as of December 31, 1924, was offered yesterday afternoon at the telephone rate hearing before the Public Utilities Commission by Clinton Smith, depreciation expert of Washington.

This was but another step in the telephone company's prolonged effort to set up a reproduction cost which will exceed greatly the approximate $23,000,000 set up by the commission and to establish a general depreciation figure that is well under the 25 per cent estimated by Thomas R. Tate, valuation engineer of the commission. Previously, the company had presented evidence that depreciation on equipment other than land and buildings has been 10 per cent.

William R. Roberts, special counsel for the commission, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech spent the morning cross-examining William F. Sloan, Chicago engineer, who had testified last week as to the depreciation of the telephone company's equipment. They also questioned Mr. Smith at the conclusion of his testimony.

So far there is no indication as to how much more time will be consumed in the inquiry instituted the first of June. The record of the case runs close to 1,500 pages with practically all evidence having to do with temporary valuation or depreciation or reproduction costs.

3 in Bonus Battle Plead Not Guilty

Marchers Allowed Time to Challenge Assault Indictments.

Three members of the B. E. F. pleaded not guilty yesterday before Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue in the District Supreme Court to indictments charging them with criminal offenses growing out of the eviction of the B. E. F. from it encampment at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Each asked for the customary period within which to change their plea. This allows their attorneys until September 8 to challenge the validity of the indictment either through a demurrer or a plea in abatement.

Those indicted and the offenses charged against them are John O. Olsen, assault with a dangerous weapon; Broadus Faulkner, assault with a dangerous weapon, and Bernard McCoy, charged with assault with intent to kill, and assault with a dangerous weapon.

Senator William H. King (Democrat), of Utah, will speak tonight at the Women's Democratic National Club, 1526 New Hampshire avenue, when the fourth of a series of Roosevelt evenings will be held. Senator King's subject will be the pertinent issues of the presidential campaign.

Mrs. Basil Manly will be chairman of the program, and will introduce Senator King. After the addresses an open forum will be held in which all present may participate.

Man Hurts Ankle In Leap From Fire

Jumps Off Roof as Blaze Bars Escape on Stairs at His Home.

His escape blocked down the stairs and by a drain pipe he attempted to slide down, Carman Frost, 23, finally had to jump from the roof of his father's home at 3546 Alton place northwest, to get away from a fire which badly damaged the house yesterday afternoon. Carman suffered a sprained ankle in the 15-foot jump.

The young man had been asleep in a room on the second floor. He was awakened by the odor of smoke. Running to the stairway, he was halted by a billow of smoke and flame from the first floor. The young man next attempted to slide down a drain pipe, but the fire drove him back there.

Then he got out on the roof of the front porch and leaped to the ground. The fire was discovered by his father, E. H. Frost, who turned in the alarm. Damage to the lower part of the residence was estimated at $1,000. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Records Loom As Boys Zoom Model Planes

Thrills aplenty featured yesterday's opening of the annual District of Columbia Model Aircraft Tournament at Macfarland Community Center. Scores of youthful air enthusiasts competed for leadership in three indoor events heading first-day activities of the meet.

The tiny planes zoomed overhead in flights that went well toward shattering existing amateur records. Many long-standing records for model aircraft are expected to be broken before the final event.

At the close of yesterday's flights George Leffler, of the ace class, headed his field with 13 points. Morris Krucoff was at the top of the pilot class also with 13 points, and Karl Clarke and David Fegan headed the junior pilot class with 10 points each.

Among the outstanding flights were those in the H. L. Scientific event. Leffler, Harold Francke and Jack Parke each made flights of 4½ minutes with their planes.

Leffler trailed in the helicopter events, giving way to Everett Meeks. His plane stayed in the air 1 minute and 9 seconds while Meeks scored a count of 1 minute and 35 seconds.

In the indoor seaplane tests, Leffler again forged ahead. His plane flew 3 minutes and 3 seconds. His nearest competitor was Francke with 2 minutes and 28 seconds.

The final results were:

Ace class—Leffler, 13 points; Meeks, 10; Francke, 9; Parke, 5; Jack Friedman, 4; Blair Bennett, 3, and Edward Grannis, 1.

Pilot class—Krucoff, 13 points; Bill Kennon, 11; Morris Arkin, 9; Tom Hagner, 6, and Norman Zipkin, 5.

Junior pilot class—Clarke, 10 points; Fegan, 10; Edward Arkin, 8; Gilbert Southworth, 7; Milton Silverman, 3; Harry Heimer, 3, and August Tolzman, 1.

Engines Respond Twice To Fire-Periled Truck

It took two trips for the fire engines to put out the flames in a truck operated by Louis Denson, colored, yesterday. The vehicle burst into flames while at Eighth and M streets northwest and the fire engines were called to extinguish them.

Denson drove the truck along M street to Wisconsin avenue and when he arrived there the vehicle again started burning. Firemen within a block of the second stop soon put out the fire.

"Customer" Robs Laundry Clerks

Man Steals 2 Attendants' Purses While They Look for Bundle.

A colored sneak-thief yesterday stole small sums of money from two clerks in laundry stores in Fourteenth street while they were looking for packages for which he asked.

Mrs. Georgia Mattingly, employed by the Frazee-Potomac Laundry, at 2707 Fourteenth street northwest, had her pocketbook, containing $8, stolen from her while she was searching for the package requested by the man.

A few minutes later, Miss Laura Farmer, employed by the Palace laundry, had $1.20 stolen from her pocketbook by a colored man who used the same ruse. He was described as about 23 years old, light skinned and wearing a blue shirt, blue trousers and a dark cap.

ASSOCIATION FIGHTS PROPOSED TAXI LEVY

4,000 Cabs Already Pay City $509,000 in Taxes, Says Harry G. Davis.

A protest against the proposal of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks to levy another license fee or tax on the taxicab industry was filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission by Harry C. Davis, president of the Independent Taxi Owners Association, which operates the Diamond cabs.

The letter presented statistics to sustain an estimate that the 4,000 cabs in Washington will pay $509,000 in municipal taxes during 1932 despite their present low rate of return. The figures are offered, it is said, to disclaim certain "aspersions to the effect that taxicabs are municipal parasites, using public thoroughfares and public facilities in a private pursuit for individual gain without payment of sufficient consideration."

The taxicab industry is credited in the letter for the increase in gasoline taxes last year despite only a slight gain in the number of motor vehicles registered.

Specific objection was made to "numerous and intricate regulatory bodies which may necessitate appearance before the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and other governmental agencies." Any sort of tax on cabs operating between Washington and Mount Vernon, it is pointed out, probably would result in a higher rate that would impose a hardship on the tourists.

Capital May Lose Regatta This Year

Funds Held Badly Needed for President's Cup Annual Event.

The President's Cup regatta may be held in some city outside of the Capital unless contributions are forthcoming to pay the expenses of the annual racing event.

James A. Councilor, chairman of the finance committee of the regatta, which is scheduled for September 16 and 17, pointed out yesterday that contributions have been scarce. In the deed of gift, Mr. Councilor said, there is a clause which provides that unless the regatta is staged here it may be transferred to any city designated by the American Power Boat Association.

Last year's regatta, which was staged by the Corinthian Yacht Club and the Chesapeake and Potomac Power Boat Association, cost approximately $4,000. Commodore E. C. Baltz, of the Corinthian Yacht Club, said yesterday, "the President's Cup regatta should be held on no river except the Potomac. I believe there are enough civic-minded people in the Capital who would readily contribute part of the expenses to keep the regatta where it belongs."

Traction Man Retires After 40-Year Service

Thomas O'Neill, 74 years old, a street railwayman in Washington for 40 years, has been retired as an inspector for the Capital Traction Co.

Mr. O'Neill is the father of "Peg" O'Neill, of the movies. He has another daughter, Hazel, who was on the stage with Maude Adams. He is going to Lakeland, Fla., where his wife resides.

HOOVER IS CREDITED WITH SAVING NATION

Virginia Republicans Say He Prevented Trade Collapse; E. J. Spaulding Wins.

President Hoover was credited with preventing the economic collapse of the United States in resolutions adopted yesterday at the Republican convention of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia, held at the Washington-Lee High School in Arlington County.

The convention indorsed the Hoover administration and pledged active support of the President to the end that he may be reelected.

All acts of the Democratic party in Virginia were condemned by the convention. A verbal lashing was administered the alleged efforts of the Democartic party to centralize power in Richmond—a fact, it was asserted, demonstrated by resolutions and amendments to the State constitution in the past three years.

Fee System Attacked.

Resolutions were adopted by the convention favoring a complete reorganization of the State government of Virginia to the end that taxes and the number of office holders be reduced and power of the people be restored. Abolition of "the vicious fee system" was strongly advocated.

R. R. Farr, Fairfax lawyer, was elected chairman of the convention. Roy S. Braden, Arlington County manager, gave the address of welcome, and John Barton Phillips responded.

E. J. Spaulding, of Alexandria, by a vote of 103 to 47 won the Republican nomination for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District over John Locke Green, of Arlington County.

State Committee.

Members of the State committee from the Eighth District are: M. W. Carter, Orange; C. N. Knight, Stafford; L. F. Freeman, Fairfax; N. J. Pancost, Loudoun; John J. Clarkson, Arlington; Mrs. Otis Marshall, Culpeper; Mrs. Alice Straus, Alexandria; Mrs. Guy Ervin, Fairfax; Mrs. Frances A. Harris, Arlington, and Mrs. A. E. Lybolt, Purcellville.

John B. Grayson, was elected to membership on the State executive committee.

Phil P. Campbell, former United States representative from Kansas, presided at the evening session. Addresses were made by Secretary of Labor William N. Doak, Assistant Postmaster General John W. Philp, Judge T. G. Risley, solicitor for the Department of Labor; C. Bascom Slemp, chairman of the Republican national committee; Joseph L. Crupper, national committeeman, and Charles F. Scott, editor of the Republican. The Rev. J. A. Curran, pastor of St. Charles' Church, gave the invocation. A musical program was given by the Boys Independent Band, under the direction of C. J. Brown, jr., director.

Thieves broke into a clothing store at 318 Cedar street northwest and stole clothing valued at $107 and then entered a hardware store next door and removed $60 worth of merchandise.

The theft occurred during the last few days and was discovered when the proprietors of the establishments opened for business yesterday. Israel Hoffenberg reported the theft at the hardware store and Samuel Friedman discovered that his establishment had been entered, and that a quantity of wearing apparel had been stolen.

L. Harrold and W. S. Coffman, both of Marion, Ind.

The car was driven 250,000 miles by its original owner before disposing of it.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

IF RKO-Keith's can maintain the percentage that bids fair to be established in the first three weeks of its "Greater Show Season," it will wind up with a batting average of .667, which is pretty fair in any man's league.

This observation is prompted by the fact that those who attended Saturday midnight's preview of "The Night Club Lady," the film fable booked to open its public engagement on Fifteenth street come Friday, saw another corking good audience picture—interesting, tense, deft in its uses of comedy and baffling no end. "Night Club Lady," as, of course, you must know by now, is a murder mystery yarn, based on the Thatcher Colt stories by Anthony Abbott, with Adolphe Menjou in the role of the police commissioner whose methods of crime detection are no less distinctive and diverting than those of Philo Vance or Sherlock Holmes.

It is no part of the present purpose to review the film this far in advance of its scheduled showing, but it will do no harm to say that Menjou's work is no less impressive than his managing editor in "The Front Page," and that he is supported by a splendid cast, led by Mayo Methot, Blanche Friderici, "Skeets" Gallagher, Albert Conti and a long list of others.

This would be a pretty swell magic lantern show not to miss—particularly if you neglected to see "American Madness." It would be too bad to let two such good ones get away!

To jostle the Saturday midnight preview out of the routine rut of such things, the Messrs. Fred A. Marshall, exploiteer de luxe for Columbia Pictures, producer of "The Night Club Lady," and Hardie Meakin were extensively flashlighted pesenting a copy of Mr. Abbott's book to Inspector Burke of the Metropolitan Police Department, who seemed to get quite a bang out of Commissioner Colt's rasslin' match with both a knotty problem and "Skeets" Gallagher!

Personal nomination for the most futile bit of cinematography of the year: The cricket fight inside that bamboo container in "Isle of Paradise," at the Columbia.

"Doctor X," the first mystery melodrama ever filmed entirely in natural colors—which is said to add immeasurably to the eerie quality of many scenes—will be presented at a special midnight shudder show, beginning at 11:30 p. m., Thursday, August 25, which is by way of being day after tomorrow. For some unknown reason—unless the girl made a typographical error in transcribing Mr. La Falce's copy—the general admission will be 54 cents, including the Government's nuisance tax.

If homicide is what you are after, this ought to be twice as good as "The Night Club Lady," since it outmurders it by a score of 6 to 3—and at the height of the moon, at that! Lionel Atwill, Lee Tracy, Fay Wray and Preston Foster head the cast.

And there goes the phone. Ah-ha, just as I thought. The girl did make a mistake in transcribing the good Dr. La Falce's copy! That admission charge will be 55 cents, instead of 54, which will probably take a big load off Ogden Mills' mind!

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lampkin were hosts to a small group of congenial souls in their apartment in the Fairfax last evening in honor of Herb Williams, headlining the stage bill at Loew's Fox this week, and a new batch right off the ice. Mr. Lampkin, by the way, is at work on a new overture arrangement that ought to knock your ears back and no foolin'. It will deftly counterpoint the popular ballad "Trees" and Tom McNaughton's "Three Trees," that comedy gem from Christie MacDonald's "The Spring Maid," unless my memory is as bad as usual.

If it is, it hardly deserves to be called a memory.

COMPETITION BY U. S. IN BUSINESS SCORED

Printhouse Craftsmen Hear of Danger to Taxpayers at Convention.

An address by Chester Leasure, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in which he urged cessation of Government interference with private business as a saving to taxpayers, featured the opening of the thirteenth annual convention of the International Association of Printhouse Craftsmen at Wardman Park Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Leasure said that an annual saving of $150,000,000 could be realized by taxpayers if the Government would cease competing with private and legitimate business. He urged members of the printing association to take the lead in a program to alleviate this situation by informing the Government that the burden is too large and that the Government is killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

The print craftsmen heard addresses of welcome from Public Printer George H. Carter, A. W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; Peter Becker, jr., vice president of the Typothetae of this city; John J. Deviny, secretary of the United Typothetae of America, and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, District Commissioner. Thomas E. Coris, of San Francisco, Calif., vice president of the association, responded.

The delegates went on a sightseeing trip yesterday afternoon. Today they will hear addresses on what the depression has taught, the future of craftsmanship and other subjects. The convention will continue through tomorrow.

Jury Says Bullock Killed Policeman

Widow of Shinault Asserts Husband, in Vision, Told What Happened.

The coroner's jury decided that Policeman George W. Shinault was killed by Willie Bullock after statements offered by three witnesses of the shooting were read by Detective Sergt. Floyd Truscott, of the homicide squad, at an inquest yesterday.

Mrs. Shinault said, while awaiting the verdict of the jury, that her husband appeared before her in a vision following the shooting on August 14 and told her what had happened. She declared that he told her that the second bullet from the slayer's gun had killed him. The vision, she said, then disappeared.

Policeman Ralph D. Edwards, who accompanied Shinault to the 100 block of F street northwest to the scene of a reported fight, testified at the hearing that he would have been the victim of Bullock's gun if he had taken his accustomed post as emergency man instead of driving the car when the F street alarm was broadcast.

LEGION IN MARYLAND MAY VOTE ON RUM

Resolution Against Any U. S. Disarming Also to Face State Convention.

Resolutions pledging the American Legion of Maryland to work for unconditional repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and to oppose any disarmament of the United States will be introduced at the State convention of the legion tomorrow by the Laurel Post, according to J. Bryan Hobbs, its commander.

Mr. Hobbs said last night that the resolutions have already been sent to the resolutions committee of the State body and that he believes they have enough support to be brought out on the floor of the convention. Six posts in southern Maryland have already promised to support the motions, and a number of others have indicated a willingness to vote for them, he said.

In addition to asking repeal, the prohibition resolution calls for the immediate amendment of the Volstead act to permit beer and light wines. The eighteenth amendment, according to the terms of the resolution which was adopted by the Laurel post last week, "was passed at a time of national emotion and stress and in the absence of more than 2,000,000 men, who were deprived of the opportunity to voice their sentiments on the question."

"The prohibition law in this country is a failure," the resolution continues. "Crime has increased, the standard of morality fallen, honest men's usefulness being tempted and destroyed by corrupting them with the strongest weapon that has ever been placed in the criminal's hands."

The disarmanent resolution calls for the Army to be maintained at its present strength, and for the Navy to be brought up to equality with any other country. In addition, it asks that citizens' military training camps be continued, that financial support be given to the training of reserve officers, and that Congress continue the appropriation for civilian rifle clubs.

David Goldstein, 735 Thirteenth street northwest, yesterday was named defendant in a suit for $25,000 damages in District Supreme Court. The suit was filed by Fred G. Umhaun in behalf of Mrs. Rozena Frgic, of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, who contends she was seriously hurt when Goldstein's automobile collided with a car in which she was a passenger last year in Ohio.

LEGION POST TO VISIT WEST POINT

Will Visit West Point and New England States; Brown Is Chief.

A brief visit to West Point and an automobile tour of the New England States are planned by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, who left Washington yesterday for a two-week vacation which has been delayed since July due to the encampment of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces.

The strenuous weeks during the stay of the bonus army required 14 to 18 hours work a day and left him fatigued. Inspector E. W. Brown will act as police chief while he is away.

Plans for an emergency squad and movie reels to be used to demonstrate proper policing, which were outlined just before the vacation trip, will be put into effect when Gen. Glassford returns.

CAPITAL GUARDSMEN BEGIN CAMP ROUTINE

Two Units at Virginia Beach Get Instructions on Maneuvers.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Pollard, Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 22.—With the camp erected and the personnel settled into the regular routine of military life in the field, the staff of the Twenty-ninth Division and two units of the District of Columbia National Guard today started preliminary training.

Headquarters detachment, special troops, Twenty-ninth Division, under the command of Lieut. David W. Milne, Washington, D. C., reported to the staff for their orders. After an informal speech of welcome by Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, and a brief talk by Col. John A. Cutchins, chief of staff, the staff and their enlisted assistants were addressed by Maj. L. McD. Sylvester, Regular Army instructor, who outlined this year's maneuvers.

Contrary to the usual custom, the enlisted men of the headquarters detachment assigned as aids to the staff officers will be slowed to sit in on conference, accompany the officers on reconnoissance trips and enjoy the confidence of the officers in matters pertaining to the problems. Col. William D. Tipton, aviation officer of the Twenty-ninth Division, delivered a lecture on aerial photography and the making of maps from the air. Immediately after the lecture, the staff, accompanied by their assistants, left the camp on their first reconnoissance trip. The second Washington unit in the National Guard camp is the Twenty-ninth Division military police company, under the command of Lieut. Merrill Reich.
